

Catastrophe & Representation

An aerial photograph of a coastal region, likely a wetland or marsh area. The landscape is characterized by large, irregular patches of red, which could be the result of a disaster, environmental degradation, or a specific type of vegetation. The red patches are interspersed with areas of green and brown. A network of thin, dark lines, possibly roads or waterways, crisscrosses the landscape. The overall tone is somber and evocative, fitting the theme of the journal.
