faith and family of Chile's 33 Trapped Miners by a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist When Chile's San Jos mine collapsed outside of Copiap in August 2010 it trapped 33 miners beneath thousands of feet of rock for a record breaking 69 days And across the globe we sat riveted to television and computer screens while journalists flocked to the Atacama Desert While we saw what transpired above ground during the grueling and protracted rescue the story of the miners lives buried below the earth's surface and the lives that led them there hasn't been heard until now In Deep Down Dark this master work of a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist Hector Tobar gains exclusive access to the miners and their stories The result is a miraculous and emotionally textured account of the 33 men who came to think of the San Jos mine as a kind of coffin as a cave inflicting constant and thundering aural torment and as a church where they sought redemption through prayer while the world watched from above It offers an understanding of the families and personal histories that brought los 33 to the mine and the mystical and spiritual elements that surrounded working at such a dangerous place Nicholas Nickleby
