Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003 Critical discourse analysis and classroom discourse practices El Mustapha Lahlali, 2007 Discourse Analysis and the Study of Classroom Language and Literacy Events David Bloome, Stephanie Power Carter, Beth Morton Christian, Sheila Otto, Nora Shuart-Faris, 2004-09-22 The authors present a social linguistic social interactional approach to the discourse analysis of classroom language and literacy events Building on recent theories in interactional sociolinguistics literary theory social anthropology critical discourse analysis and the New Literacy Studies they describe a microethnographic approach to discourse analysis that provides a reflexive and recursive research process that continually questions what counts as knowledge in and of the interactions among teachers and students The approach combines attention to how people use language and other systems of communication in constructing classroom events with attention to social cultural and political processes The focus of attention is on actual people acting and reacting to each other creating and recreating the worlds in which they live One contribution of the microethnographic approach is to highlight the conception of people as complex multi dimensional actors who together use what is given by culture language social and economic capital to create new meanings social relationships and possibilities and to recreate culture and language The approach presented by the authors does not separate methodological theoretical and epistemological issues Instead they argue that research always involves a dialectical relationship among the object of the research the theoretical frameworks and methodologies driving the research and the situations within which the research is being conducted Discourse Analysis and the Study of Classroom Language and Literacy Events A Microethnographic Perspective introduces key constructs and the intellectual and disciplinary foundations of the microethnographic approach addresses the use of this approach to gain insight into three often discussed issues in research on classroom literacy events classroom literacy events as cultural action the social construction of identity and power relations in and through classroom literacy events presents transcripts of classroom literacy events to illustrate how theoretical constructs the research issue the research site methods research techniques and previous studies of discourse analysis come together to constitute a discourse analysis and discusses the complexity of locating microethnographic discourse analysis studies within the field of literacy studies and within broader intellectual movements This volume is of broad interest and will be widely welcomed by scholars and students in the field language and literacy studies educational researchers focusing on analysis of classroom discourse educational sociolinguists and sociologists and anthropologists focusing on face to face interaction and language use
