Missionary for the Care of God's Creation What happens if we imagine the Jesus of Christian theology to be realized in the nonhuman natural world around us Basic to Christian belief is the notion that God the creator of all inhabited the earth in order to call to us God of Earth embraces this central premise of Christianity Jesus as both fully divine and fully human and then allows for the possibility that such a Jesus need not be limited to a human man What if Jesus were God of earth not only over earth but also in and through it As Swenson tracks that question through the cycle of a church year she invites readers to reconsider our relationship to the nonhuman natural world and so experience new dimensions of the sacred and new possibilities for hope and healing Green Sisters Sarah McFarland Taylor, 2009-09-15 Listen to a short interview with Sarah McFarland Taylor Host Chris Gondek Producer Heron building alternative housing structures and hermitages from renewable materials adopting the green technology of composting toilets solar panels fluorescent lighting and hybrid vehicles and turning their community properties into land trusts with wildlife sanctuaries Green Sisters gives us a firsthand understanding of the practice and experience of women whose lives bring together Catholicism and ecology orthodoxy and activism traditional theology and a passionate mission to save the planet As green sisters explore ways of living a meaningful religious life in the face of increased cultural diversity and ecological crisis their story offers hope for the future and for a deeper understanding of the connections between women religion ecology and culture Living Cosmology Tucker, Mary Evelyn, Grim, John, 2016-04-13 At Home in the Cosmos David Toolan, 2001 Brings science and spirituality together to reveal a universe with Christ at the center and an environment caught in the balance The Cosmic Pilgrim Margaret MacIntyre, 2010-03-01 The Cosmic Pilgrim is an introduction to the world of eco theology Based on the vision of Pierre Teilhard de Chardin it describes the nature of reality in our Cosmos that is continually unfolding within our expanding consciousness and the journey the pilgrimage of the universe through space and time toward its consummate destiny within the fullness of God This radical evolutionary perspective is part of the new story of science and religion Mathematical cosmologist and visionary Brian Swimme is the chosen guide to this new cosmology and his insights form the continuing thread of the book His mentor Thomas Berry is well represented here as are other great thinkers from the realms of science and theology Jürgen Moltmann Alfred North Whitehead C S Lewis John Polkinghorne and John Haught The Cosmic Pilgrim presents a personal easy to grasp map of the current interface between ecology religion and science It aims to develop a spirituality that is grounded in the present struggle of moving beyond our Earth damaging industrial mindset toward a higher vision of vibrant planetary community At the same time it seeks out the wider horizon of ultimate meaning and ponders the mystery of the far future and our cosmic destiny Although the book reflects the author's Christian background it is nonsectarian in approach and could be enjoyed by any seeker interested in developing a green spirituality The Cosmic Citizenry, a Christian Basis for Environmental Ethics Mark R. Francis, 1983 Science and Religion in Search of Cosmic Purpose John F. Haught, 2000 Many scientists today think of the universe as essentially purposeless Likewise modern and postmodern philosophers have often been suspicious of any religious claims that the natural world embodies and eternal meaning or teleology Not all scientific thinkers subscribe to this cosmic pessimism however and some would even argue that contemporary knowledge is consistent with a religious sense of cosmic purpose This stimulating book offers candid reflections on the question of cosmic purpose written both by prominent scientists and by scholars representing the world s religious traditions Examining the issue from a wide variety of perspectives this is the only current book to deal with cosmic purpose from an interreligious and interdisciplinary perspective Here scientists such as physicist Andrei Linde and biologist Francisco Ayala come face to face with Islamic scholar Seyyed Hossein Nasr Hindu philosopher Anindita Niyogi Balslev and others They examine such perplexing issues as the possible existence of multiple universes and the implications of seemingly purposive features in life The contributions address the question of whether a religiously based notion of a purposeful cosmos is consistent with the latest scientific understanding of nature and whether theology can affirm the presence of divine action without contradicting science These essays will challenge readers to ponder their own place in the cosmos as they seek to interpret the visions of the world s great spiritual traditions in the light of natural science Cosmic Crisis and Creation

Kenyon Wright, 2012-05-01 This book presents and analyses two basic assertions Life in the 21st century is threatened by an unprecedented global crisis which is the result of the exponential increase in the impact of human activity on the earth Properly understood the Christian concept of Creation and of human relationships based on Gods Covenant offer the clearest light on the meaning and nature of and effective response to the crisis and the most realistic Hope for the future It owes much to James Lovelock the originator of the concept of Gaia the earth seen as a single coherent living interlocking system who challenges those of faith to develop a theology of creation that could include Gaia Recognise that human rights and needs are not enough those with faith could accept the Earth as part of Gods creation and be troubled by its desecration This book is written to accept that challenge This Book owes much to the Churches Vision 21 Group in Scotland both in its development and making and in support for its publication Rated Four Stars out of Five by Foreword Clarion Review If the news media is to be believed science and religion can never agree about global warming and humanity s role in climate change However Kenyon Wright who has spent decades studying both perspectives points to some common ground in Cosmic Crisis and Creation The Search for Meaning a well researched exploration of the issues Cosmic Crisis and Creation offers a rich tapestry of thought on how humanity has managed its relationships At once realistic and hopeful this book can serve as an excellent starting point for productive discussions about Earth s future Foreword Clarion Review The author Wright has drafted an informative emboldened call to action for unity in matters of reason and faith Wright s book is a fast but important read It serves as a fine introduction to the pattern of economic growth known as sustained development which champions the fulfilment of the needs of the current generation without damaging future generations Yet while our present state may seem grim Wright never falls into melodramatic pessimism His message is optimistic He believes wholeheartedly that the Christian faith can make all things new again BlueInk Review July 2012 Wright analyzes global ecological collapse from a Christian theological perspective The link between the environmental movement and Christianity hasn't always been a strong one But in his first book Wright traces the connection between Christian teaching on Creation and the commitment to environmental stewardship it implies His brief thoughtful argument for theological activism contributes to the growing voice of the Christian left Kirkus Reviews May 2012

Walking God's Earth David Cloutier, 2014-09-25 How does the Catholic tradition understand the significance of the environment and what are the implications for our daily lives In Walking God's Earth David Cloutier provides a concise accessible and spiritually engaging introduction to these questions Cloutier emphasizes the importance of finding our place within God's created order showing how spiritual experiences and scriptural narratives guide us to a humble and realistic perspective one that often clashes with the presumptions of society In its focus on practical ways of living out this message the book identifies key areas food fuel dwelling places work and leisure where Catholics can bring their faith convictions into daily living We are called to handle the things of God's creation in holy sacramental ways as an essential part of our vocation to live out our faith Walking God's Earth emphasizes the importance of connecting both spiritually and morally our environmental lives with the basics of our faith in hope that God's desire for the renewal of the earth may be realized in our own desires and in the practices of our communities

God and Gaia Michael S Northcott, 2022-12-22 God and Gaia explores the overlap between traditional religious cosmologies and the scientific Gaia theory of James Lovelock It argues that a Gaian approach to the ecological crisis involves rebalancing human and more than human influences on Earth by reviving the ecological agency of local and indigenous human communities and of nonhuman beings Present day human ecological influences on Earth have been growing at pace since the Scientific and Industrial Revolutions when modern humans adopted a machine cosmology in which humans are the sole intelligent agency The resultant imbalance between human and Earthly agencies is degrading the species diversity of ecosystems causing local climate changes and threatens to destabilise the Earth as a System Across eight chapters this ambitious text engages with traditional cosmologies from the Indian Vedas and classical Greece to Medieval Christianity with case material from Southeast Asia Southern Africa and Great Britain It discusses concepts such as deep time and ancestral time the ethics of genetic engineering of foods and viruses and holistic ecological management Northcott argues that an ontological turn that honours the differential agency of indigenous humans and other kind and that draws on sacred traditions will make it is possible to repair the destabilising impacts of contemporary human activities on the Earth System and its constituent ecosystems This book will be of considerable interest to students and scholars of the environmental humanities history and cultural and religious studies

Christianity and Extraterrestrials? Marie George, 2005 Does ETI existence spell the death of Christianity The increasingly popular answer is yes Marie George argues to the contrary that Christian belief is compatible with ETI existence by examining Roman Catholic teaching and Scripture She then makes a case that while Christian belief does not exclude ETI existence it does render it improbable George goes on to expose the faulty reasoning behind the common opinion that science indicates that the universe surely contains other intelligent life forms She closes with speculations on what the Catholic Church might eventually say about ETIs Central to her analysis is the cosmic role of Christ I appreciate arguments like those in Christianity and Extraterrestrials laid out carefully and investigated thoroughly If more writers proceeded with Dr George s care and courtesy there would be new hope for peace in the world John L Barger Ph D Publisher Sophia Institute Press Although some of Dr George s claims are controversial she is clearly an author seeking the truth and open to opposing arguments Moreover she has sought out the best sources and used them wisely in short an admirable scholarly presentation Michael J Crowe Cavanaugh Professor Emeritus University of Notre Dame and author of The Extraterrestrial Life Debate 1750 1900 God, Self, Humanity, Earth Jessica Ann Hittinger Chicka,2019
