Ecosocialism Or Barbarism Jane Kelly, 2006 Socialists Jane Kelly and Sheila Malone have gathered together articles from some of the world's leading ecologists and Marxists to discuss how capitalism cannot regulate much less overcome the crises it has set going

Eco-Socialism or Eco-Capitalism? Saral Sarkar, 1999-05-01 This major synoptic work explores some of the most important questions facing humanity in the coming generations. It is remarkable for its author's holistic treatment of the environment and social justice as inescapably related questions, his refusal to analyze the industrialized and developing countries as though they are so different that any understanding of the one can ignore the other, and his integrity in exploring difficult and controversial questions from a stance that always addresses the evidence even if that leads to conclusions that are not currently fashionable. Saral Sarkar argues that the USSR bumped up against environmentally defined and resource-related limits to growth at a relatively early stage. But this does not mean that a free market globalized capitalist economy will indefinitely escape a similar fate. Nor will a modified eco-capitalism as promoted by some sections of the Western environmental movement provide a sufficiently grounded solution to the twin problems of environmental destruction and social injustice. The author looks therefore to a fundamentally different future one in which our very notion of progress is differently conceived.

Capitalism in the Anthropocene John Bellamy Foster, 2022-08-23 Over the last 11 700 years during which human civilization developed the earth has existed within what geologists refer to as the Holocene Epoch. Now science is telling us that the Holocene Epoch in the geological time scale ended, replaced by the onset of a new more dangerous Anthropocene Epoch which began around 1950. The Anthropocene Epoch is characterized by an anthropogenic rift in the biological cycles of the Earth System, marking a changed reality in which human activities are now the main geological force impacting the earth as a whole, generating at the same time an existential crisis for the world's population. What caused this massive shift in the history of the earth? In this comprehensive study, John Bellamy Foster tells us that a globalized system of capital accumulation has induced humanity to foul its own nest. The result is a planetary emergency that threatens all present and future generations, throwing into question the continuation of civilization and ultimately the very survival of humanity itself. Only by addressing the social aspects of the current planetary emergency, exploring the theoretical, historical, and practical dimensions of the capitalism's alteration of the planetary environment, is it possible to develop the ecological and social resources for a new journey of hope.

Barbarian: Explorations of a Western Concept in Theory, Literature, and the Arts Markus Winkler, Maria Boletsi, 2023-07-31 This two-volume co-authored study explores the history of the concept of barbarism from the eighteenth century to the present and highlights its foundational role in modern European and Western identity. It constitutes an original comparative and interdisciplinary exploration of the concept's modern European and Western history and combines overviews with detailed analyses of representative works of literature, art, film, philosophy, and political and cultural theory. Volume 2 broaches figurations of barbarism and mobilizations of the barbarian across diverse contexts media and fields from the early twentieth century to our present from avant garde manifestoes to contemporary multilingual literature and adaptations of the Medea myth from anti colonial to eco socialist texts from political philosophy and ethno anthropology to contemporary pop culture from Russian poetry to Western political rhetoric from Europe to Latin America from cinema to art biennials and from neo Marxists to the Alt Right

The Disenchanted Earth Richard Seymour, 2022-04-22 From Richard Seymour one of the UK's leading public intellectuals comes a characteristic blend of forensic insight and analysis personal journey and a vivid respect for the natural world A planetary fever dream An environmental awakening that is also a sleep walking unsteadily weaving between history earth science psychoanalysis evolution biology art and politics A search for transcendence beyond the illusory eternal present These essays chronicle the kindling of ecological consciousness in a confessed ignoramus They track the first enchantment of the author his striving to comprehend the coming catastrophe and his attempt to formulate a new global sensibility in which we value anew what unconditionally matters
