Advances in understanding the pathogenetic mechanisms of neurodevelopmental disorders and neurodegenerative disease - The environment as a putative risk factor Anna Maria Lavezzi, Marco Colizzi, Pamela J. Lein, 2023-09-05 Neurodevelopmental disorders are generally influenced by genetic as well as intrauterine and extrauterine factors that affect the fetal maternal environment and or brain development that continues after birth Specific genetic polymorphisms may increase susceptibility to environmental factors that alter the trajectory of brain development via diverse molecular mechanisms In particular the pre and post natal exposure to neurotoxic metals pesticides persistent organic pollutants and other chemicals is increasingly recognized as involved in the pathogenesis of neurodevelopmental disorders such as autism deficiency attention hyperactivity disorders neurodegenerative disorders such as Parkinson's and Alzheimer's disease chronic multiple sclerosis and even fetal and infant death including SIUDS Sudden Unexplained Intrauterine Death Syndrome and SIDS Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Obesogenic Environmental Conditions Affect Neurodevelopment and Neurodegeneration Gustavo Pacheco-Lopez, Marcel Pérez-Morales, Kioko Rubi Guzman-Ramos, Johnny Davis Figueroa, Ute Krügel, Javier A. Nervous System Disorders,2021-01-22 Humans are potentially exposed to more than 80 000 toxic chemicals in the environment yet their impacts on brain health and disease are not well understood The sheer number of these chemicals has overwhelmed the ability to determine their individual toxicity much less potential interactive effects Early life exposures to chemicals can have permanent consequences for neurodevelopment and for neurodegeneration in later life Toxic effects resulting from chemical exposure can interact with other risk factors such as prenatal stress and persistence of some chemicals in the brain over time may result in cumulative toxicity Because neurodevelopmental and neurodegenerative disorders such as attention deficit hyperactivity disorder and Parkinson s disease cannot be fully explained by genetic risk factors alone understanding the role of individual environmental chemical exposures is critical On June 25 2020 the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine s Forum on Neuroscience and Nervous System Disorders hosted a workshop to lay the foundation for future advances in environmental neuroscience The workshop was designed to explore new opportunities to bridge the gap between what is known about the genetic contribution to brain disorders and what is known and not known about the contribution of environmental influences as well as to discuss what is known about how genetic and environmental factors interact This publication summarizes the presentation and discussion of the workshop
