Approach Richard Huggett, 2002-09-11 Animals plants and soils interact with one another with the terrestrial spheres and with the rest of the Cosmos On land this rich interaction creates landscape systems or geoecosystems Geocology investigates the structure and function of geoecosystems their components and their environment The author develops a simple dynamic systems model the brash equation to form the conceptual framework for the book suggesting an ecological and evolutionary approach Exploring internal of ecological interactions between geoecosystems and their near surface environments the atmosphere hydrosphere toposphere and lithosphere and external influences both geological and cosmic Geocology presents geoecosystems as dynamic entities constantly responding to changes within themselves and their surroundings An evolutionary view emerges of geoeological systems and the animals plants and soils comprising them providing a new way of thinking for the whole environmental complex and the rich web of interdependencies contained therein Meanderings in the Bush Richard MacMillen, Barbara MacMillen, 2009-07-15 The Channel Country is of special interest because its extreme aridity is disrupted unpredictably by summer monsoonal rains causing massive flooding and is followed by prodigious growth of plants and reproduction of animals before returning to daunting conditions of drought Yet it is a region teeming with life both plant and animal possessing unusual capacities for existing there It is also a region favoured by hardy pastoralists and their livestock who have learned to coexist with this harsh climate In Meanderings in the Bush the authors describe their many adventures and misadventures in the region with its climate its animals and its human inhabitants They also discuss results of their research which reveals some of the secrets for survival of many of the native animals including marsupials rodents birds and the remarkable desert crab These studies are cast in the light of both the prehistoric and historic records of the Lake Eyre Basin including the probable impacts of changing and or stable climates Aboriginal occupation later European pastoral development and the influences of introduced exotic mammals 100 Animals Nick Garbutt, Mike Unwin, 2007 100 Animals to See Before They Die is inspired by the Zoological Society of London's recently launched conservation project EDGE Evolutionarily Distinct and Globally Endangered EDGE targets some of the world's most bizarre and unusual creatures animals which are extremely distinct in the way they look live and behave They have few or no close relatives and require immediate action to save them from extinction If they disappear there will be nothing like them left on the planet Amazingly many of these species are ignored by existing conservation plans 100 Animals fights this ignorance by highlighting the danger these species are in and will encourage greater involvement in the fight to save them Some EDGE species such as tigers elephants and pandas are well known but 100 Animals features dozens of lesser known and extraordinary animals such as the Yangtze River Dolphin the world's rarest cetacean the Bumblebee Bat the smallest mammal on earth and the egg laying Long beaked Echidna Organised by world regions Eurasia Australasia Africa New World South East Asia the Oceans and with a whole section devoted to Madagascar 100 Animals is inspirational and packed with information about each animal and where to find it Each animal is illustrated in colour and accompanied by a distribution map and information about its key characteristics and the specific threats it faces plus details about any conservation work taking place
