Index Making a Positive Impact in Rural Places R. Martin Reardon, Jack Leonard, 2018-03-01 Following on from the preceding volume in this series that focused on innovation and implementation in the context of school university community collaborations in rural places this volume explores the positive impact of such collaborations in rural places focusing specifically on the change agency of such collaborations The relentless demand of urban places in general for the food and resources e g mineral and energy resources originating in rural places tends to overshadow the impact of the inevitable changes wrought by increasing efficiency in the supply chain Youth brought up in rural places tend to gravitate to urban places for higher education and employment social interaction and cultural affordances and only some of them return to enrich their places of origin On one hand the outcome of the arguable predominance of more populated areas in the national consciousness has been described as urban normativity a sense that what happens in urban areas is the norm By implication rural areas strive to approach the norm On the other hand a mythology of rural places as repositories of traditional values while flattering fails to take into account the inherent complexities of the rural context The chapters in this volume are grouped into four parts the first three of which explore in turn collaborations that target instructional leadership increase opportunities for underserved people and target wicked problems The fourth part consists of four chapters that showcase international perspectives on school university community collaborations between countries Australia and the United States within China within Africa and within Australia The overwhelming sense of the chapters in this volume is that the most compelling evidence of impact of school university community collaborations in rural places emanates from collaborations brokered by schools communities to which universities bring pertinent resources Handbook of Australian School Psychology Monica Thielking, Mark D. Terjesen, 2017-01-26 This handbook addresses the current state and practice of school psychology with a focus on standards unique to Australia including historical legal ethical practical and training factors It provides a compilation of the most current research based practices as well as guidelines for evidence based assessment and intervention for common conditions e g autism depression learning disabilities and for delivering appropriate services to targeted student populations e g LGBT gifted medical issues Chapters discuss the application of national and international school psychology practices within the Australian educational and psychological structure The handbook also examines the lack of formal resources specific to Australia s culture and psychology systems with its unique mix of metropolitan cities and the vast geographic landscape that spans regional and remote areas It offers numerous case studies and innovative school mental health programs as well as recommendations for professional development and advocacy that are unique to Australian school psychology Topics featured in this Handbook include Evidence based assessment and intervention for dyscalculia and mathematical disabilities Identification and management of adolescent risk taking behaviors and addictions Understanding and responding to crisis and trauma in the school setting Prevention and intervention for bullying in schools Class and school wide approaches to addressing behavioral and academic needs The role of school psychologists in the digital age Practical advice for school psychologists facing complex ethical dilemmas The Handbook of Australian School Psychology is a must have resource for researchers scientist practitioners and graduate students in child and school psychology social work and related fields that address mental health services for children and adolescents Building

Community to Create Equitable, Inclusive and Compassionate Schools through Relational Approaches Joan G

Mowat,2022-11-30 This book draws on an extensive international literature and policy context from a wide range of fields of enquiry to challenge the orthodoxies and systemic issues that serve to marginalise children and young people and lead the way for schools to become more equitable inclusive and compassionate in their practice With a particular focus on children with social emotional and behavioural mental health needs it critiques policy and practice as they pertain to behaviour management and school discipline in the UK and the USA and offers alternative perspectives based on collaborative and relational approaches to promoting positive behaviour and building community Each chapter features reflection points to provoke discussion as well as offering additional suggested reading culminating in a discussion of the role of school leaders in leading for social justice Ultimately this book will be of benefit to scholars researchers and students working in the fields of behaviour management inclusion and special needs education and education policy and politics more broadly It will also offer substantial appeal to education professionals school leaders and those with a locus on the mental health and wellbeing of children and young people Finding Safe Harbour Emily Pelley,2022-02-15 The global refugee crisis is staggering in scope The United Nations Refugee Agency reported that 79.5 million people were displaced worldwide in 2019 and over half of all displaced persons were under eighteen As the number of children and teenagers seeking asylum continues to grow the impact of displacement on a young person's well being and development over the long term requires further study In Finding Safe Harbour Emily Pelley investigates the current response to refugee youth in Canada by highlighting how Halifax Nova Scotia as a mid sized urban centre has mobilized services and resources to support young people seeking refuge Opening with a broad contextual introduction to the global crisis of displacement and the impact of violence and armed conflict on young people Pelley focuses on the reciprocal adaptation that is required for the long term integration of displaced youth into the receiving society A concise and illuminating study on refugee resettlement Finding Safe Harbour concludes with an in depth discussion of how cities can optimize resilience resources through meaningful engagement with refugee youth

Children, Youth, and Participatory Arts for Peacebuilding Ananda Breed,Helena-Ulrike Marambio,Kirrily Pells,Rajib Timalina,2024-06-14 This book demonstrates how participatory arts based approaches can help children and youth contribute to peacebuilding within post conflict contexts and to their communities Cultural forms of storytelling through visual arts drama music and dance can help to enhance post conflict community well being social cohesion and conflict prevention However in the planning and implementation of these arts based projects children and youth are often marginalised in decision making processes Drawing on cases from Kyrgyzstan Rwanda Indonesia and Nepal this book demonstrates the benefits of participatory action research with children and youth to inform education curricula and policies for sustaining peace Showing how artforms can be adapted to meet the needs of children and youth the book emphasises the need to scale up arts based peacebuilding initiatives and leverage for greater policy enactment from the bottom up It is also an excellent example of South South learning advocating for a local approach to engage with arts based methodologies and peacebuilding This book will be of interest to researchers across the applied arts sociology anthropology political science peacebuilding and international development Practitioners and policymakers would also benefit from the book s
