Experience And Teleology In Ancient Futures Past From Herodotus To Augustine:

Experience and Teleology in Ancient Historiography Jonas Grethlein, 2013-10-17 The past is narrated in retrospect. Historians can either capitalize on the benefit of hindsight and give their narratives a strongly teleological design or they may try to render the past as it was experienced by historical agents and contemporaries. This book explores the fundamental tension between experience and teleology in major works of Greek and Roman historiography, biography and autobiography. The combination of theoretical reflections with close readings yields a new, often surprising assessment of the history of ancient historiography as well as a deeper understanding of such authors as Thucydides, Tacitus and Augustine. While much recent work has focused on how ancient historians use emplotment to generate historical meaning, Experience and Teleology in Ancient Historiography offers a new approach to narrative form as a mode of coming to grips with time. Aesthetic Experiences and Classical Antiquity Jonas Grethlein, 2017-11-02 This book investigates the nature of aesthetic experience with the help of ancient material, exploring our responses to both narratives and images.

Knowing Future Time In and Through Greek Historiography Alexandra Lianeri, 2016-03-07 From the early modern period, Greek historiography has been studied in the context of Cicero's notion historia magistra vitae and considered to exclude conceptions of the future as different from the present and past. Comparisons with the Roman, Judeo-Christian and modern historiography have sought to justify this perspective by drawing on a category of the future as a temporal mode that breaks with the present. In this volume, distinguished classicists and historians challenge this contention by raising the question of what the future was and meant in antiquity by offering fresh considerations of prognostic and anticipatory voices in Greek historiography from Herodotus to Appian and by tracing the roots of established views on historical time in the opposition between antiquity and modernity. They look both at contemporary scholarly argument and the writings of Greek historians in order to explore the relation of time, especially the future, to an idea of the historical that is formulated in the plural and is always in motion. By reflecting on the prognostic of historical time, the volume will be of interest not only to classical scholars but to all who are interested in the history and theory of historical time. Notions of Time in Deuterocanonical and Cognate Literature Stefan

Beyerle, Matthew Goff, 2021-12-20 A comprehensive investigation of notions of time in deuterocanonical and cognate literature from the ancient Jewish up to the early Christian eras requires further scholarship. The aim of this collection of articles is to contribute to a better understanding of time in deuterocanonical literature and pseudepigrapha, especially in Second Temple Judaism and to provide criteria for concepts of time in wisdom literature, apocalypticism, Jewish and early Christian historiography and in Rabbinic religiosity. Essays in this volume representing the proceedings of a conference of the International Society for the Study of Deuterocanonical and Cognate Literature in July 2019 at Greifswald discuss concepts and terminologies of time stemming from novellas like the book of Tobit, from exhortations for the wise like Ben Sira, from an apocalyptic time table in 4 Ezra, the book of Giants or Daniel and early Christian and Rabbinic compositions. The volume consists of four chapters that represent different approaches or hermeneutics of time I Axial Ages The Construction of Time as History II The Construction of Time Particular Reifications III Terms of Time and Space IV The Construction of Apocalyptic Time Scholars and students of ancient Jewish and Christian religious history will find in this volume orientation with regard to an important but multifaceted and sometimes disparate topic The Cambridge Companion to Thucydides Polly Low, 2023-03-09 A wide ranging introduction to one of the earliest and most influential works in the western historical tradition The Imagination of the Mind in Classical Athens Emily Clifford, Xavier Buxton, 2023-07-14 This book explores the imaginative processes at work in the artefacts of Classical Athens When ancient Athenians strove to grasp justice or war or death when they dreamt or deliberated how did they do it Did they think about what they were doing Did they imagine an imagining mind European histories of the imagination have often begun with thinkers like Plato and Aristotle By contrast this volume is premised upon the idea that imaginative activity and especially efforts to articulate it can take place in the absence of technical terminology In exploring an ancient culture of imagination mediated by art and literature the book scopes out the roots of later more explicit theoretical enquiry Chapters hone in on a range of visual and verbal artefacts from the Classical period Approaching the topic from different angles philosophical historical philological literary and art historical they also investigate how these artefacts stimulate affective sensory meditative in short imaginative encounters between imagining bodies and their world The Imagination of the Mind in Classical Athens offers a ground breaking reassessment of imagination in ancient Greek culture and thought it will be essential reading for those interested in not only philosophies of mind but also ancient Greek image text and culture more broadly The Epic Journey in Greek and Roman Literature Thomas Biggs (Classicist), Jessica Blum, 2019 This volume explores journeys across time and space in Greek and Latin literature taking as its starting point the paradigm of travel offered by the epic genre The epic journey is central to the dynamics of classical literature offering a powerful lens through which characters authors and readers experience their real and imaginary worlds The journey informs questions of identity formation narrative development historical emplotment and constructions of heroism topics that move through and beyond the story itself The act of moving to and from home both a fixed point of spatial orientation and a transportable set of cultural values thus represents a physical journey and an intellectual process In exploring its many manifestations the chapters in this collection reconceive the centrality of the epic journey across a wide variety of genres and historical contexts from Homer to the moon The Ancient Aesthetics of Deception Jonas Grethlein, 2021-09-16 A bold new history of ancient aesthetics and its entanglement with ethics with ongoing significance for current debates
