Construction Site Safety , Construction Health and Safety in Coastal and Maritime Engineering Ian

Cruickshank, Stephen Cork, 2005 Over 500 million is spent on coastal and maritime construction in the UK every year This work is particularly hazardous due to the hostile environment and uncertainty caused by the combination of storms waves currents and tides At present there is little health and safety related guidance available to assist coastal maritime clients designers contractors and other stakeholders to ensure this work is undertaken in a safe manner The CDM Regulations amongst others regulations require these parties to consider and assess construction risks Structural Repair of

Traditional Buildings PEB Robson, 2015-11-17 This book will be of interest to everyone involved in the repair maintenance and refurbishment of traditional buildings Its purpose is to promote the successful structural repair of masonry timber and unfired earth The book begins by explaining how traditional structures work and how they are affected by the behaviour of the soil that supports them It goes on to explain how the structural design of buildings has to cope with uncertainty Techniques for doing so are well established for new buildings but the viewpoint changes when existing buildings need to be repaired or refurbished The most common sources of structural damage are listed The more serious and progressive ones are described in detail as an aid to diagnosis and prognosis An understanding of prognosis enables repairers to decide whether urgent intervention is necessary or whether the problem can be allowed to run its course A straightforward method is proposed for arriving at the most suitable remedy Several typical repairs are illustrated The book covers many allied topics including the principles of conservation health and safety and preventative maintenance A chapter is devoted to the special needs of insured perils Site Management for Engineers Trevor Holroyd, 1999-05-06 This no nonsense book is intended to enable the reader to learn from the mistakes of others in their field and to benefit from ideas which have been proven to work well in the past By being aware of possible problems and their likely solutions the reader should be able to progress in the workplace with increased confidence in their site management skills Production Safety for Film, Television and

Video Robin Small, 2000-07-03 Covering all aspects of production safety this is an invaluable reference guide for the independent programme maker freelancer manager producer tutor and student filmmaker Robin Small identifies all the major risks and gives advice on how to control and or eliminate them Each hazard section includes useful references to the relevant legislation documents and licences as well as addresses of organisations for essential advice and recommended further reading An appendix lists samples of vital certificates with visual references provided on www.focalpress.com Important information about hazard identification risk assessment and safety policy is provided in the chapters covering legislation health and safety management personal protective equipment and insurance Particular hazards are then split into individual sections for ease of reference These hazards include Asbestos Cranes Explosives and pyrotechnics Food and catering Manual handling and lifting Visual display screens Working at heights The appendices provide comprehensive contact information for UK and European Health and Safety sources They also include sample forms to draw up your own safety system Robin Small is Senior Lecturer in Television Media Department at the University of Huddersfield
