Gaviotas A Village To Reinvent The World:

Gaviotas Alan Weisman, 2008-09-03 Los Llanos the rain leached eastern savannas of war ravaged Colombia are among the most brutal environments on Earth and an unlikely setting for one of the most hopeful environmental stories ever told Here in the late 1960s a young Colombian development worker named Paolo Lugari wondered if the nearly uninhabited infertile llanos could be made livable for his country's growing population He had no idea that nearly four decades later his experiment would be one of the world's most celebrated examples of sustainable living a permanent village called Gaviotas In the absence of infrastructure the first Gaviotans invented wind turbines to convert mild breezes into energy hand pumps capable of tapping deep sources of water and solar collectors efficient enough to heat and even sterilize drinking water under perennially cloudy llano skies Over time the Gaviotans experimentation has even restored an ecosystem in the shelter of two million Caribbean pines planted as a source of renewable commercial resin a primordial rain forest that once covered the llanos is unexpectedly reestablishing itself Colombian author Gabriel Garc a M rquez has called Paolo Lugari Inventor of the World Lugari himself has said that Gaviotas is not a utopia Utopia literally means no place We call Gaviotas a topia because it's real Relive their story with this special 10th anniversary edition of Gaviotas complete with a new afterword by the author describing how Gaviotas has survived and progressed over the past decade Gaviotas Alan Weisman, 1999 In 1971 a group of Colombian visionaries and technicians reasoning that surging populations must someday learn to inhabit even the world's harshest regions decided to prove they could thrive in one of the most brutal environments on earth their country's barren rain leached eastern savannas Sustainable Urban Development Reader Stephen M.
