Science Fiction, New Space Opera, and Neoliberal Globalism Jerome Winter, 2016-11-15 One of the few points critics and readers can agree upon when discussing the fiction popularly known as New Space Opera a recent subgenre movement of science fiction is its canny engagement with contemporary cultural politics in the age of globalisation This book avers that the complex political allegories of New Space Opera respond to the recent cultural phenomenon known as neoliberalism which entails the championing of the deregulation and privatisation of social services and programmes in the service of global free market expansion Providing close readings of the evolving New Space Opera canon and cultural histories and theoretical contexts of neoliberalism as a regnant ideology of our times this book conceptualises a means to appreciate this thriving movement of popular literature

Postcolonial Theory and Crisis Paulo de Medeiros, Sandra Ponzanese, 2024-04-01 In the millennial transition the prefix post had come to signify more and more not just the realisation of a coming after but also of the impossibility of not seeing the present as still very much working through the wounds of the past Yet with the appearance of pseudo concepts such as post truth after an equally imaginary death of History the logic of the post itself always already under questioning may appear to have outlived its usefulness How to make sense of postcolonial theory in Europe in the present One way might be to renew its significance as world conflicts have entered a new post imperial phase with the return of ideologies of empire in various parts of the world The essays in this volume address those questions at both a conceptual theoretical level and through the analysis of specific case studies In the Introduction Paulo de Medeiros and Sandra Ponzanese review the main questions outlined above in relation to the current debates in the Humanities from their respective disciplinary perspectives The volume is organised in four sections each containing four chapters Even though all the chapters present a reflection on Postcolonial Theory and Crisis some focus more specifically on aspects of the crisis in a global perspective such as humanitarian crisis and the role of mediatization of conflicts to issues related to human rights refugees migrancy environmental crisis to questions of memory and postmemory as well as the critique of art and utopian thought
