Evaluating The Security Of The Global Containerized Supply Chain Technical Report Rand:

Evaluating the Security of the Global Containerized Supply Chain Henry H. Willis, David Santana Ortiz, 2004 Much worldwide cargo from raw materials to finished products travels via containerized shipping For the shippers the main concern has always been losses from theft or accident But shipping containers are as attractive to terrorists as they are to thieves and smugglers New security measures have therefore proliferated This report defines a framework for assessing the effects of these measures reviews the balance of current container security risk reduction efforts and lays out directions for further research Global Logistics Management Wolfgang Kersten, 2008 Managing the Future Supply Chain Wolfgang Kersten, Thorsten Blecker, Christian M. Ringle, 2012

Decision Aid Models for Disaster Management and Emergencies Begoña Vitoriano, Javier Montero, Da Ruan, 2013-01-26 Disaster management is a process or strategy that is implemented when any type of catastrophic event takes place The process may be initiated when anything threatens to disrupt normal operations or puts the lives of human beings at risk Governments on all levels as well as many businesses create some sort of disaster plan that make it possible to overcome the catastrophe and return to normal function as quickly as possible Response to natural disasters e g floods earthquakes or technological disaster e g nuclear chemical is an extreme complex process that involves severe time pressure various uncertainties high non linearity and many stakeholders Disaster management often requires several autonomous agencies to collaboratively mitigate prepare respond and recover from heterogeneous and dynamic sets of hazards to society Almost all disasters involve high degrees of novelty to deal with most unexpected various uncertainties and dynamic time pressures Existing studies and approaches within disaster management have mainly been focused on some specific type of disasters with certain agency oriented There is a lack of a general framework to deal with similarities and synergies among different disasters by taking their specific features into account This book provides with various decisions analysis theories and support tools in complex systems in general and in disaster management in particular The book is also generated during a long term preparation of a European project proposal among most leading experts in the areas related to the book title Chapters are evaluated based on quality and originality in theory and methodology application oriented relevance to the title of the book

Terrornomics Sean S. Costigan, David Gold, 2016-03-16 Today no single issue dominates the global political landscape as much as terrorism Aware of their unique position in the newly unipolar world terrorist leaders have articulated that economic warfare is a key component of the new terrorist agenda Governments have accentuated the role of economic tools in their counter terrorism policies while maintaining emphasis on the application of military force or hard power even though such tools often prove unnecessarily blunt or even sorely inadequate Given the complexity of the global threat posed by modern transnational terrorist groups combating terrorism with a mix of hard and soft power is more important than ever As an invaluable new book in terrorism studies Terrornomics brings together contributions from renowned international scholars and practitioners to provide a multifaceted view of contemporary financial counterterrorism and terrorist funding efforts It employs key concepts terms case studies and policy recommendations to advance our understanding of the threats and possible courses of action thus enabling us to grasp the critical financial and economic issues while providing potential counterterrorist strategies elements proposed by the authors have big and obvious points in common. Thus conceptually linking the identified elements, they have been grouped into 14 basic concepts that have been referred to as Global Elements in this project and that define the security and performance of the C S C. From that moment it will work with these basic elements generated, classifying conceptually and using them to analyze the measures proposed to improve the Security of the C S C. Thus going deeper into the definition of the elements integrated into each of the global elements, it has been generated a conceptual definition for each Global Element. From the process of generation of conceptual definition of the Global Elements, it can be concluded that there exists a clear difference of nature between those Global Elements. So can be identified 3 major subgroups in which can be classified the 14 Global Elements. In this way, have been identified a group of Global Elements relating to all those basic elements, tools and procedures that define the Security of the C S C. This group of Global Elements in this project has been named as Tools. Another group of Global elements relating to the possible problems that may affect in a negative way in the operation of the C S C. This group of Global Elements has been named as Vulnerabilities. And finally another group of Global Elements relating to all elements that define the performance of the C S C. This group of elements has been named as Performance. In the Proposed and Implemented Measures, will have a broad collection of agreement and technological measures implemented or under development to improve the security of the C S C. Thus through the analysis of the specialized literature, have been identified a large number of proposals to improve the security of the C S C. Moreover, have been detected two distinct levels in terms of these measures. So there are those that have been referred to as Agreement Measures and those that have been referred to as Technological Measures. Within the Agreement Measures are included all efforts made regarding the creation of national and international agreements, policies, performance standards, rules, and programs. Thus the Agreement Measures identified in the literature and analyzed are the following: Maritime Transportation Security Act of 2002, MTSA, Customs Trade Partnership Against Terrorism, C-TPAT, Container Security Initiative, CSI, Operation Safe Commerce, OSC, Proliferation Security Initiative, PSI, Megaports Initiative, International Ship and Port Security, ISPS. Within the Technological Measures are included all those technologies used or in developing to improve and strengthen the security of the C S C in the various levels of the supply chain and in different focal areas. Thus the Technological Measures identified in the literature and analyzed are the following: Antitamper Seals Technologies, Sensor Technologies, Radio Frequency Identification Technologies, Non-Intrusive Inspections Technologies, WMD Remote Monitoring Technologies, Automated Targeting Technologies, Authentication Technologies. In the section Analysis of the Measures, will be analyzed the agreement and technological measures collected regarding the global elements generated in the Literature Review section. To do this, in a first phase, has been analyzed for each measure identified which basic elements of the Security of the C S C are affected. These basic elements have been identified in this project and have been denominated as the global elements Tools. In a second phase, it has been analyzed for each measure identified how it affects at the different elements of the Performance of the C S C These elements have been identified in this project and have been denominated as the global elements Performance Finally the study will be completed extracting the considered most relevant Conclusions emerged in the development of this project So are exposed the most relevant conclusions that can be extracted from the different basic phases of this project In the process of searching for the literature used as a basis of study and analysis in this project In the process of the analysis of the documents collecting and linking the identified elements that allow to define and to assess the Security of the C S C In the process of collection and analysis of the proposed and implemented Measures to improve the security of the C S C And additionally in this section of the project will be intended to propose a set of Recommendations of action addressed to specialized authors and to the stakeholders directly involved in the topic of the Security of the C S C
