World Bank HIV/AIDS

Interventions Julia Dayton,1998-01-01 The AIDS epidemic is one of the greatest development challenges of the 20th century Since 1986 the World Bank has supported member countries efforts to fight the epidemic in many ways including committing over US 550 million to HIV AIDS prevention and mitigation efforts This paper the first comprehensive study of all World Bank HIV AIDS related activities assesses the appropriateness of Bank interventions from the perspective of public economies and reviews the economic evaluation and implementation of projects

Evaluating AIDS Prevention Programs

National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Committee on AIDS Research and the Behavioral, Social, and Statistical Sciences,Panel on the Evaluation of AIDS Interventions,1991-02-01 With insightful discussion of program evaluation and the efforts of the Centers for Disease Control this book presents a set of clear cut recommendations to help ensure that the substantial resources devoted to the fight against AIDS will be used most effectively This expanded edition of Evaluating AIDS Prevention Programs covers evaluation strategies and outcome measurements including a realistic review of the factors that make evaluation of AIDS programs particularly difficult Randomized field experiments are examined focusing on the use of alternative treatments rather than placebo controls The book also reviews nonexperimental techniques including a critical examination of evaluation methods that are observational rather than experimental a necessity when randomized experiments are infeasible

Evaluating AIDS Prevention Programs National Research Council (U.S.). Panel on the Evaluation of AIDS

Interventions,Susan L. Coyle,1991 This report undertaken at the behest of the US Public Health Service which requested assistance in evaluating the three major AIDS prevention programs sponsored by the Centers for Disease Control provides a blueprint to help determine the effectiveness of programs designed to change high risk behavior Paper edition 04281 X available for 29 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Evaluating HIV/STD Education and Prevention Programs Emily Gantz McKay,1991 Evaluating HIV/AIDS Treatment Programs George J. Challenges in Program Evaluation of Health Interventions in Developing Countries Barbara O. Wynn, Arindam Dutta, Martha I. Nelson, 2006-01-23 Health interventions that are effective in developed countries may not be as effective in developing countries given the differing social economic cultural and infrastructure factors that may affect a program's implementation and outcomes This monograph is intended to promote an understanding of why program evaluation is a critical component of any health intervention and to stimulate discussion on ways to make evaluation of health interventions in developing countries more rigorous Economic Evaluation of HIV/AIDS Interventions in Resource Scarce Settings Emiko Masaki, 2004

Global Advances in HIV / AIDS Monitoring and Evaluation Greet Peersman, Michel Carael, 2004-11-18 The focus of this issue is on global advances in conducting monitoring and evaluation M E of the global response to the HIV AIDS epidemic Only by implementing comprehensive and sustainable M E systems will we know how much progress we are making as nations and as a global community in combating this pandemic The chapters primarily focus on developing nations and are presented largely from the perspective of evaluators working for donors international agencies and national governments Although it is clear that a comprehensive M E system must eventually include both monitoring and evaluation the initial aim has been to establish a foundation derived largely from surveys and monitoring information To date much of the focus in M E has come from the global level because new global funding initiatives have been launched and required rapid scale up and the development of technical guidance international standards and indicators for monitoring progress and determining success At the regional and country levels the challenge has been to implement national M E plans and systems within a context of overall low M E capacity and a range of M E needs Strengthening Interventions for HIV Prevention, 2000

San Francisco HIV Prevention Plan, 1997 HIV Prevention Planning Council, 1996 Best Evidence Structural Interventions for HIV Prevention Rachel E Golden, Charles B. Collins, Shayna D Cunningham, Emily N Newman, Josefina J. Card, 2013-05-25 Providing detailed information on structural HIV prevention interventions this book is intended for health care practitioners and researchers to plan implement and evaluate such interventions in their own communities As defined by the CDC structural interventions focus on the physical social cultural political economic legal and or policy aspects of the environment Designed to reach a large number of individuals structural interventions usually occur across entire communities cities or countries As a result the resources required to initiate structural interventions can far exceed those required for smaller scale behavioral programs However changes from structural interventions have the potential to last over time even after the programs have ended resulting in effective use of public and private prevention resources Because the reach of structural interventions is typically larger than that of individual or group focused interventions for example the 100% Condom Use Program which was implemented countrywide in Thailand their influence may be equally if not more significant This book is a resource for health practitioners educators and researchers who seek HIV AIDS structural prevention programs that have been shown to be effective in their regions or for their target populations e g injection drug users commercial sex workers or the general public With extensive case studies the book classifies interventions according to the desired outcomes specific behavior or policy changes so that the reader may focus on examples of programs with similar goals and target populations to their own Addresses the quintessential public health ethical dilemma regarding which types of environmental changes should be mandatory via legislation and which should be voluntary promoted via programmatic practice and policy change Interventions to Prevent HIV Risk Behaviors, 2000

Tools for Evaluating HIV Voluntary Counselling and Testing Rachel Baggaley, 2002 This document provides guidance on monitoring and evaluating the various aspects of voluntary counseling and testing VCT programs for HIV AIDS It provides tools for the evaluation of VCT as part of a national program as well as VCT services at specific institutions independent sites and services for special groups including community based non governmental organizations It includes monitoring and evaluation of VCT services associated with the prevention of mother to child transmission of HIV and tuberculosis preventive therapy This document revises and adapts previous draft guidelines and incorporates relevant operational research findings Publisher s description An Evaluation of Structural and Individual-level HIV Interventions in the Philippines Kwa Abakah Sey, 2005 Addendum to the San Francisco HIV Prevention Plan San Francisco (Calif.).
