Everyday Ethics For The Criminal Justice Professional:

Everyday Ethics for the Criminal Justice Professional Kelly Cheeseman, Claudia San Miguel, Durant Frantzen, Lisa S. Nored, 2023 Everyday Ethics for the Criminal Justice Professional focuses on getting students to think about ethics in the day to day context By placing an emphasis on practical applications as opposed to theoretical ideologies the book is more user friendly to the student of the 21st century Unlike other texts it includes forensics and private security in the list of criminal justice professions their impact on the field and what it means to do business in criminal justice The text also utilizes practical scenarios in the career fields of policing institutional corrections community corrections prosecutors and judges private security criminal justice supervision and forensics to allow for students to apply theoretical concepts to real life criminal justice situations The text prepares students to think and process through ethics in both the concrete and abstract The third edition updates material throughout

Governance Ethics in Healthcare Organizations Gerard Magill, Lawrence Prybil, 2020-01-28 Drawing on the findings of a series of empirical studies undertaken with boards of directors and CEOs in the United States this groundbreaking book develops a new paradigm to provide a structured analysis of ethical healthcare governance Governance Ethics in Healthcare Organizations begins by presenting a clear framework for ethical analysis designed around basic features of ethics who we are how we function and what we do before discussing the paradigm in relation to clinical organizational and professional ethics It goes on to apply this framework in areas that are pivotal for effective governance in healthcare oversight structures for trustees and executives community benefit community health patient care patient safety and conflicted collaborative arrangements This book is an important read for all those interested in healthcare management corporate governance and healthcare ethics including academics students and practitioners

Everyday Ethics Paul Brodwin, 2013-01-01 This book explores the moral lives of mental health clinicians serving the most marginalized individuals in the US healthcare system Drawing on years of fieldwork in a community psychiatry outreach team Brodwin traces the ethical dilemmas and everyday struggles of front line providers On the street in staff room debates or in private confessions these psychiatrists and social workers confront ongoing challenges to their self image as competent and compassionate advocates At times they openly question the coercion and forced dependency built into the current system of care At other times they justify their use of extreme power in the face of loud opposition from clients This in depth study exposes the fault lines in today s community psychiatry It shows how people working deep inside the system struggle to maintain their ideals and manage a chronic sense of futility Their commentaries about the obligatory and the forbidden also suggest ways to bridge formal bioethics and the realities of mental health practice The experiences of these clinicians pose a single overarching question how should we bear responsibility for the most vulnerable among us

timely readable text offers an authoritative and balanced analysis of how racially driven policies in America impact post release education as a leading pathway to social reintegration Compelling research findings from an assemblage of college faculty seasoned administrators and criminal justice professionals are interwoven with first person narratives from formerly incarcerated individuals This book takes full advantage of its interdisciplinary mixture of voices and positionality to build its argument upon a three part framework from Critical Race Theory CRT It convincingly utilizes the tools of academic research counterstories and counterspaces to make a persuasive case that the intersection of race the criminal justice system and education represent one of the greatest civil rights issues of our time Part 1 Context Critical Race Theory and College Re Entry explores the historical and current dynamics of these uniquely American intersections while linking Critical Race Theory with the field of re entry and offering serious analysis of post incarceration and education initiatives Interest convergence white privilege and writing from returning citizens as a way of coming to voice are also explored in this section Part 2 Counterstories offers case comparative case and phenomenological studies that include embedded quotations with first person narratives contributed from formerly incarcerated students and graduates This section also includes an honest and gripping analytic auto ethnography from the book s co editor who readily reveals his experiences as both a faculty member and formerly incarcerated individual Other highlighted topics include the issues of stigma overcoming obstacles in the classroom and the unique problems for returning citizens when acclimating to college culture Combining qualitative research and descriptions of successful programs Part 3 Counterspaces explores the dynamics of creating places within programs and classrooms that support physical emotional spiritual and intellectual engagement for and with the formerly incarcerated through learner centered culturally sensitive and racially explicit pedagogy This book is designed to be a most welcome addition to any serious academic discussion focusing upon institutionalized racism and education s use as a tool in reversing the mass incarceration of people of color in America A Book About Books, Volume III of III E. H.

Bernstein,2024-11-13 This book is Volume III of a three volume book plus accompanying website www.bookaboutbooks.com which adds to subjects already in the book or presents some books and subjects not contained in the books The other volumes are available from the same booksellers as this volume A Book about Books discusses what nonfiction books and subjects the author believes are important to know about This book tries to point to problems in how we live and to see if books have any answers Even though the books are complete the author will update the website periodically in the future E H Bernstein is a former librarian turned author The subtitle of the book describes the author s objective A handbook in three volumes to a choice of essential books writers and subjects in order to understand the world we live in about big questions and possible answers about books and writers that may improve people s lives about neglected writers and other books and subjects A Book about Books attempts to share what the author has learned from nearly 50 years of nonfiction reading and to provide the reader with samples of the most important authors and subjects from that reading While the book is based on research it is intended to be a handbook or guide by trying to make that research understandable to the general reader and to students and for teachers by pointing to what the author believes is missing from today's education. A curriculum proposal for college teachers is on the author's website. Note about how the volumes are related: each chapter is on a separate subject. So the chapters can be read individually but the full message requires reading all the volumes. Volume I is important but preliminary to the more important Volumes II and III. Note also that the book is not just about books since other sources are also mentioned. The author believes we should listen to many voices so the book draws on many types of writers from different times and countries. The author says: A contemporary writer once said that one of the purposes of writing is that books should be useful. I hope that my book will be of use.

Learning with Women in Jail Jill McCracken, 2019-10-21. In this monograph the ethical implications of engaging in research with vulnerable populations is explored and demonstrates how Community Based Participatory Research (CBPR) both enhances the research while addressing these ethical complexities. Although CBPR encompasses different levels of community engagement in general the participants or co-researchers are involved in the formulation of the research questions and methodologies because they are central to the conversation about what should be researched and how. Participants are directly involved in formulating the study problems and finding solutions and usually the goal is to create social change that can be applied to and potentially transform the community.

Learning with Women in Jail: Creating Community Based Participatory Research documents the research process to better understand the causes for incarceration and recidivism. The study used a CBPR framework so that the people who had directly experienced incarceration would lead the research as much as possible from framing the research questions and methodologies to data capture and analysis.

Legal Education in the Global Context Christopher Gane, Robin Hui Huang, 2017-05-15. This book discusses the opportunities and challenges facing legal education in the era of globalization. It identifies the knowledge and skills that law students will require in order to prepare for the practice of tomorrow and explores pedagogical shifts legal education needs to make inside and outside of the classroom. With contributions from leading experts on legal education from various jurisdictions across the globe the work combines theoretical depth with practical insights. Seeking to understand the changing landscape of legal education in the era of globalization the contributions find that law schools can and must adopt educational strategies that at least present students with different understandings of what studying and practicing law is meant to be about. They find that law schools need to offer their students choices: a vision of practice that is not driven entirely by the demands of the marketplace or the needs of major international law firms. Bridging the gap between theory and practice this book makes a significant contribution to the impact of globalization on legal education and how students and law schools need to adapt for the future. It will be of great interest to academics and students of comparative legal studies and legal education as well as policy makers and practitioners.
