Europe's Role In Nation Building From The Balkans To The Congo:

Europe's Role in Nation-Building James Dobbins, Seth G. Jones, Keith Crane, Christopher S. Chivvis, Andrew Radin, 2008-06-30 Two previous RAND volumes addressed the roles of the United States and the United Nations in nation building defined as the use of armed force in the aftermath of a conflict to promote a durable peace and representative government This volume presents six case studies of recent European led nation building missions Albania Sierra Leone Macedonia Cote d'Ivoire the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Bosnia It also reviews the Australian assistance mission to the Solomon Islands Using quantitative and qualitative measures to compare inputs such military levels economic assistance and duration and outcomes such as levels of security economic growth refugee return and democracy the analysis concludes that these European led missions have been competently managed and within their sometimes quite limited scope generally successful Most helped achieve sustained peace gross domestic product growth and representative government The EU has a wide array of civil competencies for nation building but it is sometimes slow to deploy them in support of its military operations particularly when these are conducted far from Europe The UN offers the most cost effective means to address most postconflict stabilization requirements and NATO the better framework for large scale force projection in cases in which the United States is ready to participate But the EU now offers European governments a viable alternative to both these organizations in cases in which European interests are high U S interests are low and the UN is for some reason unsuitable or unavailable

Europe's Role in Nation-Building: From the Balkans to the Congo, 2008 Since 1989 nation building has become a growth industry In two prior volumes RAND has analyzed the United States and United Nations UN's performance in this sphere examining instances in which one or the other led such operations In this monograph RAND looks at Europe's performance taking six instances in which European institutions or national governments have exercised comparable leadership To complete their survey of modern nation building they have also included a chapter describing Australia's operation in the Solomon Islands This is not a comprehensive study of all nation building operations that have involved European countries Rather it is a study of the European role in six cases in which the European Union or a European government led all or a key part of such an operation Albania Sierra Leone Macedonia Cote d'Ivoire the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Bosnia There are obvious difficulties in distinguishing among U S UN and European led nation building since many international peace operations involve the participation of all three Nevertheless it should make a difference whether military command is being exercised from Washington New York Brussels Paris or London This study was intended to explore those differences Previous volumes looked at the distinctive U S and UN approaches to these sorts of missions This one seeks to determine whether there is an identifiable European way of nation building and if so what the United States can learn from it In the final chapter the authors compare the six European and one Australian led interventions covered in this volume with the 15 other U S or UN led operations described in their previous volumes They use both quantitative and qualitative measures to compare inputs including military personnel levels economic assistance and duration and such outcomes as levels of security economic growth refugee return and political reform achieved The EU, the UN and Collective Security Joachim Krause, Natalino Ronzitti, 2012-07-26 This book examines the effectiveness of multilateralism in ensuring collective security and in particular the EU's role in this process In 1992 shortly after the end of the Cold War a Security Council Summit in New York reaffirmed the salience of the system of collective security and stated the determination of the Heads of State to maintain it as the prime international instrument for preserving peace Twenty years later however the record of collective security as well as of multilateralism has not been very encouraging The system of collective security as enshrined in the United Nations UN Charter failed repeatedly to accomplish its mandate in the 1990s and has led to controversial debates in the United States and Europe that reached a climax during the Iraq crisis in 2002-03 The volume draws upon both theoretical and empirical research to answer the following core questions What are the reasons that have made multilateralism either effective or ineffective in the field of peacekeeping peace preservation and peacebuilding How can multilateralism be made more effective How can attempts made by Europe to render UN multilateralism in the security area more efficient be assessed This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding peacekeeping EU policy the UN security studies and IR in general The NGO Game Patrice C. McMahon, 2017-06-13 In most post conflict countries nongovernmental organizations are everywhere but their presence is misunderstood In The NGO Game Patrice McMahon investigates the unintended outcomes of what she calls the NGO boom in Bosnia and Kosovo Using her years of fieldwork and interviews McMahon argues that when international actors try to rebuild and reconstruct post conflict countries they often rely on and look to NGOs Although policymakers and scholars tend to accept and even celebrate NGO involvement in post conflict and transitioning countries they rarely examine why NGOs have become so popular what NGOs do or how they affect everyday life After a conflict international NGOs descend on a country local NGOs pop up everywhere and money and energy flow into strengthening the organizations In time the frenzy of activity slows the internationals go home local groups disappear from sight and the NGO boom goes bust Instead of peace and stability the embrace of NGOs and the enthusiasm for international peacebuilding turns to disappointment if not cynicism For many in the Balkans and other post conflict environments NGOs are not an aid to building a lasting peace but are part of the problem because of the turmoil they foster during their life cycles in a given country The NGO Game will be useful to practitioners and policymakers interested in improving peacebuilding the role of NGOs in peace and development and the sustainability of local initiatives in post conflict countries The International Community and Statebuilding Patrice McMahon, Jon Western, 2012-02-07 This book brings together policymakers and academics to analyse the international community's performance in post war statebuilding projects In the past twenty years statebuilding has emerged as a centerpiece of international efforts to stabilize violent conflicts From the Balkans to Iraq to Afghanistan it has become widely accepted that statebuilding defined as the development of transparent and accountable political institutions stable and sustainable economic structures professional public administrations and civilian controlled security services is essential to the long term stability of post conflict settlements The International Community and Statebuilding brings together senior level policymakers and academics in order to analyse the international community s performance in post war statebuilding projects Filling an important gap in the existing body of work on this topic the contributors explore how international state builders have attempted to negotiate the intersections of multilateralism competing strategic priorities and agendas organizational complexity and domestic politics This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding peacebuilding war and conflict studies and International Relations in general The European Union and Military Conflict Management Annemarie Peen Rodt,2014-04-16 This book provides the first comprehensive review of the European Union s role in military conflict management beyond its borders and makes an important contribution to debates on the EU s role in global security governance The EU has launched five military operations within the framework of its Common Security and Defence Policy with the explicit purpose to help manage violent conflicts beyond its borders This book develops a definition and a set of criteria for success in military conflict management and applies this new analytical framework in a comparative case study of the five EU military operations undertaken in Macedonia Bosnia and Herzegovina the Democratic Republic of Congo Chad and the Central African Republic Having evaluated their success the book goes on to explore the conditions under which military conflict management operations conducted by international organizations are successful and explores the implications of its findings for the future theory and practice of military conflict management The European Union and Military Conflict Management will be of interest to students and scholars of security studies conflict studies European Union politics and foreign policy and global security governance Why Europe Fears Its Neighbors Fabrizio Tassinari,2009-09-03 Working from a unique viewpoint this volume demonstrates how the European Union s fear of its neighbors reflects Europe s identity crisis and challenges its survival Taking a novel approach to the current situation in Europe foreign policy analyst Fabrizio Tassinari transforms external policy concerns about Europe s neighborhood into questions about Europe s internal future His contention that the situation on Europe s periphery is an unforgiving mirror of its identity crisis institutional paralysis ineffectual foreign policy and morbid fear of migrants and multiculturalism Looking at each of the countries and regions surrounding Europe from Russia and Turkey to the Western Balkans and North Africa Tassinari unravels the challenges facing the EU weighs the record of its policies and explains how both can be traced back to Europe s inherent insecurity Turning conventional wisdom on its head he argues that gradual and diversified forms of integration with its many neighbors is Europe s best alternative to a progressive but inexorable fragmentation of the EU The ability to meet this challenge will not only test Europe s unfulfilled global aspirations it will be crucial to its very survival Institution Building in Weak States Andrew Radin,2020-07-01 The effort to improve state institutions in post conflict societies is a complicated business Even when foreign intervention is carried out with the best of intentions and the greatest resources it often fails What can account for this failure In Institution Building in Weak States Andrew Radin argues that the international community's approach to building state institutions needs its own reform This innovative book proposes a new strategy rooted in a rigorous analysis of recent missions In contrast to the common strategy of foreign interveners imposing models drawn from Western countries Radin shows how pursuing incremental change that accommodates local political interests is more likely to produce effective accountable and law abiding institutions Drawing on extensive field research and original interviews Radin examines efforts to reform the central government military and police in post conflict Bosnia and Herzegovina Kosovo Iraq and Timor Leste Based on his own experience in defense reform in Ukraine after 2014 Radin also draws parallels with efforts to improve state institutions outside of post conflict societies Institution Building in Weak States introduces a domestic opposition theory that better explains why institution building fails and what is required to make it work With actionable recommendations for smarter policy the book offers an important corrective for scholars and practitioners of post conflict missions international development peacebuilding and security cooperation Choice, 2008

The Obama Moment Álvaro de Vasconcelos, Marcin Zaborowski, 2009 The election of Barack Obama has raised major expectations in Europe and opened up new opportunities for dealing with global challenges Authored by leading experts from both sides of the Atlantic this book provides an authoritative analysis of the most topical issues facing the agendas of the European Union and the United States The volume addresses the global questions of multilateralism the economy disarmament and climate change as well as key regional issues including Iraq Iran Afghanistan Russia Africa and the Israeli Palestinian conflict The book concludes that it is imperative that Europeans and Americans seize the Obama moment in order to capitalize on the urgency of acting now They will also need to move to a new paradigm of the EU U S relationship and NATO's role within it one that takes account of the fact that the West needs the Rest to deal with the most pressing issues of our time An important contribution to the debate on how we can renew our transatlantic partnership for a new age This book lays out the challenges and choices we face It deserves to be widely read Javier Solana high representative for the EU Common Foreign and Security Policy A timely contribution to the much needed dialogue regarding transatlantic relations Both sides need to understand each other better and this volume helps its readers understand the causes of discord and the key issues to be addressed Zbigniew Brzezinski national security adviser to President Carter Contributors include Alexandra Bell Ploughshares Fund John Bruton Ambassador EU Commission to the United States 2004-09 Tom Cargill Chatham House Joseph Cirincione Ploughshares Fund James F Dobbins RAND Nikolas Foster SAIS Johns Hopkins University Daniel S Hamilton Center for Transatlantic Relations Bruce Jones Center on International Cooperation NYU Erik Jones SAIS Bologna Center Johns Hopkins University Ibrahim Kalin Prince Alwaleed bin Talal Center for Muslim Christian Understanding Andrew Kuchins CSIS Michael O Hanlon Brookings Institution Rouzbeh Parsi European Union Institute for Security Studies Glen
