Every Day is for the Thief Teju Cole, 2007 The Elusive Everyday in the Fiction of Marilynne Robinson Laura E. Tanner, 2021-07-08 Framing Marilynne Robinson's fiction within the dynamics of everyday life this study highlights the tensions of form and content that haunt moments of transcendence in her work Robinson's novels it argues construct a world that is mimetic as well as symbolic and revelatory Although the heightened apprehension of the quotidian in Robinson's novels often registers powerfully and beautifully in representational terms its aesthetic intensity is enacted at the expense of characters who patrol the margins of the ordinary with unceasing vigilance Inhabiting the everyday self consciously her protagonists perform a forced relationship to the ordinary that seldom relaxes into the natural or the familiar scarred by grief illness aging and trauma they inhabit a world of transcendent beauty suffused with the terrifying threat of loss Stiffly perched on the edge of un cushioned furniture or propped awkwardly in the midst of someone else s conversation Robinson s characters hover in the margins of a lived experience they are often forced to observe self consciously and vigilantly The signature acts of transfiguration that punctuate Robinson s narratives originate from and anticipate the inevitability of absence the death of loved ones Housekeeping the impending death of the self Gilead the fracture of family Home the repetition of trauma and abandonment Lila the prohibition of everyday intimacy in interracial romance Jack Highlighting the tensions of the uncomfortable ordinary that disrupt a trajectory of transcendence in her fiction this book situates Robinson s novels within sociological psychological and phenomenological studies of trauma grief aging race and gender as well as narrative theory and everyday life studies Focusing on the experiential dynamics of the lived worlds her novels invoke The Elusive Everyday argues for the complexity relevance and contemporaneity of Robinson s fiction

Verbal-Visual Configurations in Postcolonial Literature Birgit Neumann, Gabriele Rippl, 2020-04-23 Examining a range of contemporary Anglophone texts this book opens up postcolonial and transcultural studies for discussions of visibility and vision It argues that the preoccupation with visual practices in Anglophone literatures addresses the power of images vision and visual aesthetics to regulate cultural visibility and modes of identification in an unevenly structured world The representation of visual practices in the imaginative realm of fiction opens up a zone in which established orders of the sayable and visible may be revised and transformed In 12 chapters the book examines narrative fiction by writers such as Michael Ondaatje Derek Walcott Salman Rushdie David Dabydeen and NoViolet Bulawayo who employ word image relations to explore the historically fraught links between visual practices and the experience of modernity in a transcultural context Against this conceptual background the examination of verbal visual relations will illustrate how Anglophone fiction models alternative modes of representation that reflect critically on hegemonic visual regimes and reach out for new more pluralized forms of exchange      Memory and Latency in

Contemporary Anglophone Literature Yvonne Liebermann, 2023-06-06 Up until fairly recently memory used to be mainly considered within the frames of the nation and related mechanisms of group identity Building on mechanisms of inclusion and exclusion this form of memory focused on the event as a central category of meaning making Taking its cue from a number of Anglophone novels this book examines the indeterminate traces of memories in literary texts that are not overtly concerned with memory but still latently informed by the past More concretely it analyzes novels that do not directly address memories and do not focus on the event as a central meaning making category Relegating memory to the realm of the latent that is the not directly graspable dimensions of a text the novels that this book analyses withdraw from overt memory discourses and create new ways of remembering that refigure the temporal tripartite of past present and future and negotiate what is memorable in the first place Combining the analysis of the novels overall structure with close readings of selected passages this book links latency as a mode of memory with the productive agency of formal literary devices that work both on the micro and macro level activating readers to challenge their learned ways of reading for memory      Write a Novel in 10 Minutes a Day Katharine Grubb, 2020-03-19 LEARN HOW TO WRITE FICTION BY WRITING EVERY DAY Would you like to write but have no spare time Do you not know where to begin Write A Novel In 10 Minutes A Day will help you sculpt a full length piece of creative writing in just ten minutes a day Starting with a daily practical exercise it will help you manage your writing schedule within this time frame and help you bring your novel to life You will be able to clarify your vision and review your time commitments as well as understand your own abilities Learning to observe the world around you write quickly and tap into your unique voice will help you to create all the elements of your story and by the time you ve finished all the exercises you ll have created something beautiful ABOUT THE SERIES The Teach Yourself Creative Writing series helps aspiring authors tell their story Covering a range of genres from science fiction and romantic novels to illustrated children s books and comedy this series is packed with advice exercises and tips for unlocking creativity and improving your writing And because we know how daunting the blank page can be we set up the Just Write online community at tyjustwrite for budding authors and successful writers to connect and share      World Fiction, Today's Best Stories from All the World ,1922      Transition ,2010      The Reader's Handbook of Famous Names in Fiction, Allusions,
