Field Manual 3 13:

Information Operations: Field Manual (Fm) 3-13 Department Of The Army, 2019-02-28 Field Manual FM 3 13 Information Operations serves as the Army's foundational doctrine for information operations. The purpose of this edition is to better align Army doctrine with joint doctrine while recognizing the unique requirements of information operations in support of the land force. FM 3 13 discusses the conduct of information operations in today's complex global security environment which requires a dynamic range of capabilities and skills from technological capabilities such as cyberspace operations to individual capabilities such as speaking a foreign language from technical skills such as those required to defend computer networks to interpersonal skills such as those required to conduct Soldier and leader engagements. This manual provides overarching guidance to effectively integrate information operations into the operations process in order to create decisive effects in the information environment. Why buy a book you can download for free? We print this book so you don't have to. First you gotta find a good clean legible copy and make sure it's the latest version not always easy. Some documents found on the web are missing some pages or the image quality is so poor they are difficult to read. We look over each document carefully and replace poor quality images by going back to the original source document. We proof each document to make sure it's all there including all changes. If you find a good copy you could print it using a network printer you share with 100 other people typically it's either out of paper or toner. If it's just a 10 page document no problem but if it's 250 pages you will need to punch 3 holes in all those pages and put it in a 3 ring binder. Takes at least an hour. It's much more cost effective to just order the latest version from Amazon.com. This book includes original commentary which is copyright material. Note that government documents are in the public domain. We print these large documents as a service so you don't have to. The books are compact tightly bound full size 8 1/2 by 11 inches with large text and glossy covers. 4th Watch Publishing Co is a HUBZONE SDVOSB <https://usgovpub.com>

Field Manual FM 3-13 Information Operations
December 2016 United States Government US Army, US Army, 2017-03-21 Field Manual FM 3 13 Information Operations December 2016. Over the past two decades Army information operations IO has gone through a number of doctrinal evolutions explained in part by the rapidly changing nature of information its flow processing dissemination impact and in particular its military employment. At the same time a decade and a half of persistent conflict and global engagement have taught us a lot about the nature of the information environment especially that in any given area of operations this environment runs the gamut from the most technologically advanced to the least. Army units employ IO to create effects in and through the information environment that provide commanders a decisive advantage over adversaries threats and enemies in order to defeat the opponent's will. Simultaneously Army units engage with and influence other relevant foreign audiences to gain their support for friendly objectives. Commanders IO contributes directly to tactical and operational success and supports objectives at the strategic level. This latest version of FM 3 13 returns to the joint definition of IO although it clarifies that land forces must do more than affect threat decision making if they are to accomplish their mission They must also protect their own decision making and the information that feeds it align their actions messages and images and engage and influence relevant targets and audiences in the area of operations While the term inform and influence activities has been rescinded many of the principles espoused in the last version of FM 3 13 carry forward especially the synchronization of information related capabilities IRCs IRCs are those capabilities that generate effects in and through the information environment but these effects are almost always accomplished in combination with other information related capabilities Only through their effective synchronization can commanders gain a decisive advantage over adversaries threats and enemies in the information environment While capabilities such as military information support operations combat camera military deception operations security and cyberspace operations are readily considered information related commanders consider any capability an IRC that is employed to create effects and operationally desirable conditions within a dimension of the information environment

Field Manual FM 3-13 Inform and Influence Activities January 2013 United States Army, 2013-02-09 Field manual FM 3 13 provides doctrinal guidance and directions for conducting inform and influence activities IIA and discusses the importance of information in operational environments It describes the Army s view of how IIA aid the commander to gain an advantage through information It develops the other principles tactics and procedures detailed in subordinate doctrinal publications The publication does not address every information related capability commanders can use to help shape their complex operational environments It should however generate introspection and provide just enough guidance to facilitate flexibility and innovative approaches for commanders to execute the art of command to inform and influence It also provides guidance to the staff to conduct IIA to achieve the desired effects that support the commander s intent and objectives Commanders designate an information related capability and are only limited by available resources The principal audience for FM 3 13 is commanders and staffs at all echelons of command Army civilians and government contractors Commanders staffs and subordinates ensure their decisions and actions comply with applicable United States international and in some cases host nation laws and regulations Commanders at all levels ensure their Soldiers operate according to the law of war and the rules of engagement See FM 27 10 FM 3 13 implements standardization agreement STANAG Allied Joint Publication AJP 3 B FM 3 13 uses joint terms where applicable Selected joint and Army terms and definitions appear in both the glossary and the text Terms for which FM 3 13 is the proponent publication the authority have an asterisk in the glossary Definitions for which FM 3 13 is the proponent publication are boldfaced in the text For other definitions shown in the text the term is italicized and the number of the proponent publication follows the definition FM 3 13 applies to the Active Army the Army National Guard ARNG Army National Guard of the United States ARNGUS and the United States Army Reserve USAR unless otherwise stated The proponent of FM 3 13 is the United States Army Combined Arms Center The preparing agency is the Combined Arms Doctrine Directorate United Serena, Jerry M. Sollinger, 2013 In the U S Army as elsewhere transmission of digitized packets on Internet protocol and space based networks is rapidly supplanting the use of old technology e g dedicated analog channels when it comes to information sharing and media broadcasting As the Army moves forward with these changes it will be important to identify the implications and potential boundaries of cyberspace operations An examination of network operations information operations and the more focused areas of electronic warfare signals intelligence electromagnetic spectrum operations public affairs and psychological operations in the U S military found significant overlap that could inform the development of future Army doctrine in these areas In clarifying the prevailing boundaries between these areas of interest it is possible to predict the progression of these boundaries in the near future The investigation also entailed developing new definitions that better capture this overlap for such concepts as information warfare This is important because the Army is now studying ways to apply its cyber power and is reconsidering doctrinally defined areas that are integral to operations in cyberspace It will also be critical for the Army to approach information operations with a plan to organize and if possible consolidate its operations in two realms the psychological which is focused on message content and people and the technological which is focused on content delivery and machines Page 4 of cover Military Review ,2001
