Crowds, Community and Contagion in Contemporary Britain Sarah Lowndes, 2022-09-30 Crowds Community and Contagion in Contemporary Britain presents the COVID 19 pandemic as an opportunity to reassess the neoliberal politics xenophobia and racism that have undermined community cohesion in the United Kingdom since 1979 and which have continued largely unchecked through the last four decades Guided by three interconnected ideas used throughout to scrutinise the meaning of culture as a way of life Welsh cultural theorist Raymond Williams structure of feeling Jamaican British sociologist Stuart Hall's conception of the conjuncture and Belgian political philosopher Chantal Mouffe's agonistic pluralism Sarah Lowndes finds that a renewed sense of mutual regard and collective responsibility are necessary to meet the unprecedented challenges of the COVID 19 pandemic She begins by reflecting on public gatherings in Britain from 1945 to 2019 moving on to analyse five key examples of public gatherings affected by the pandemic in 2020 onwards Chinese New Year the UEFA Champions League Final VE Day street parties Black Lives Matter demonstrations and the cancellation of Eid ul Adha celebrations A thorough examination of how ideas proliferate and spread through our society public sphere and collective consciousness this book will appeal to scholars and upper level students of cultural studies cultural history sociology and politics American Book Publishing Record, 2005 A New Blueprint for Brain Health Sanjeev

Sridharan, Jordan Antflick, Kaela Scott, April Nakaima, 2025-12-02 This open access book presents an integrative vision to achieve better brain health Across the globe is a growing awareness of the impact of neurological conditions and mental health on wellbeing Also as populations age the number of people impacted by brain health conditions also grows shining a light on the need for brain health solutions that are sustainable Although the knowledge of what is working for a variety of brain health conditions continues to expand we need to realize that not all solutions will come from medical research What is needed to address brain health in a more sustainable way is a better understanding of the care that community provides and how a vision of better brain health will be found by deepening our understanding of the role of community and elevating the value of their contributions Community organizations provide frontline care and have a tangible understanding of the needs that accompany the populations above This means they are well equipped to provide local and accessible care Community is a place in which brain health solutions can be delivered in a sustainable effective efficient equitable and person centered way As such the knowledge community organizations can contribute to the bigger picture of health care is important This project responds to the need to better understand community care by highlighting how the role of evaluative thinking in the community sector can help us generate evidence to navigate towards better brain health futures By first recognizing and then supporting community led care we can expand how we view and receive care Along these lines the book moves from a view of healthcare as being only delivered in hospitals and clinics to recognizing the continuum of care and integration of healthcare options It provides a space for stories of health care solutions that indeed have connected health to the social and the community sectors By exploring community interventions that have been integrated with biomedical neuroscientific solutions we will learn how integrated sustainable solutions can be created The role of evaluation in helping facilitate the creation of such solutions also will be explored This project is a partnership between the Ontario Brain Institute and the Evaluation Centre for Complex Health Interventions and reflects our collective learnings from our work in developmental evaluation and brain health
