I See What You Mean Steve Moline,2023-10-10 Some educators may view diagrams pictures and charts as nice add on tools for students who are visual thinkers But Steve Moline sees visual literacy as fundamental to learning and to what it means to be human In Moline s view we are all bilingual Our second language which we do not speak but which we read and write every day is visual From reading maps to decoding icons to using concept webs visual literacy is critical to success in today s world The first edition of I See What You Mean published in 1995 was one of the first books for teachers to outline practical strategies for improving students visual literacy In this new and substantially revised edition Steve continues his pioneering role by including dozens of new examples of a wide range of visual texts from time maps and exploded diagrams to digital tools like smartphone apps and tactile texts In addition to the new chapters and nearly 200 illustrations Steve has reorganized the book in a useful teaching sequence moving from simple to complex texts In one research strategy called recomposing Steve shows how to summarize paragraphs of information not as a heap of interesting facts but as a diagram The diagram can then work as a framework for students to follow when writing an essay This overcomes the teacher s problem of cut and paste essays and by following their own diagram summary students have an answer to their familiar questions Where do I start What do I write next

Coniferous Forests Donna Latham,2011-09-01 Investigating a variety of biomes and today s natural and human threats to their preservation this interactive series challenges young readers to look at how their own actions influence the planet s health Four distinct environments are explored in detail showcasing the assortment of plants and animals that inhabit these outdoor communities as well as how they have adapted to their surroundings Offering fascinating facts on each ecosystem along with vocabulary building sidebars these guides show budding scientists how they can contribute towards

Eco-Performance, Art, and Spatial Justice in the US Courtney B. Ryan,2023-02-28 In Eco Performance Art and Spatial Justice in the US Courtney B Ryan traces how urban artists in the US from the 1970s until today contend with environmental domestication and spatial injustice through performance In theater art film and digital media the artists featured in this book perform everyday spatialized micro acts to contest the mutual containment of urbanites and nonhuman nature Whether it is plant artist Vaughn Bell going for a city stroll in her personal biosphere photographer Naima Green photographing Black urbanites in lush New York City parks guerrilla gardeners launching seed bombs into abandoned city lots or a satirical tweeter parodying BP s response to the 2010 Deepwater Horizon oil spill the subjects in this book challenge deeply engrained Western directives to domesticate nonhuman nature In examining how urban eco artists perform alternate ecologies that celebrate the interconnectedness of marginalized human vegetal and aquatic life Ryan suggests that small environmental performances can expose spatial injustice and increase spatial mobility Bringing a performance perspective to the environmental humanities this interdisciplinary text offers readers stymied by the global climate crisis a way forward It will appeal to a wide range of students and academics in performance media studies urban geography and environmental studies

The Evolution of Earth's Climate J. O. Robertson,G. V. Chilingar,O. G. Sorokhtin,N. O. Sorokhtin,W. Long,2018-07-03 Written by a group of the most experienced and well known environmental engineers in the world from a unique perspective this volume explores the hot button issue of climate change its causes and the future of the planet Climate change is one of the most controversial and argued issues in the world today and it has been for years It has been politicized by politicians on all sides some scientists have used the study of it for their own material gain above true scientific discovery and some scientific theories surrounding it have been believed even though proven false But there is not by any means complete agreement among all scientists throughout the world on this issue Written by two of the world's most well respected environmental and petroleum engineers this book is meant to be one voice in the scientific literature on this important subject Other books also available from Wiley Scrivener take the opposite stance but it is important in our scientific journey to listen to all voices and rely on facts rather than opinions We trust the reader to make his or her decisions based on all of the facts and not just some of them

Performing the Nonhuman Conrad Alexandrowicz, 2024-09-02 This book radically reimagines theatre performance pedagogy and dramaturgy in response to the accelerating climate crisis This text is founded upon the principle that the theatre is the most anthropocentric of all the arts the means of its representation the human figure is identical with its conventional object the human narrative broadly considered In order to respond ethically to the climate crisis it must expand its range to include performing as in response to the nonhuman Conrad Alexandrowicz concisely explores theoretical approaches to the other than human found in the work of among others Jane Bennett Timothy Morton Rosi Braidotti and Cary Wolfe The implications of this move are far reaching and commence with displacing realism from its traditional position of dominance The practices of 20th century physical theatre visionaries such as Tadeusz Kantor Jacques Lecoq and Jerzy Grotowski are revisited and reconsidered for their applicability to forms of theatre that might serve the needs of establishing storytelling deriving from nonhuman phenomena This logically leads to the matter of responding appropriately to Indigenous ways of knowing and being The work finds guidance in Indigenous pre scientific ways of knowing and being such as those articulated by Robin Wall Kimmerer Braiding Sweetgrass 2013 In contemplating our kinship with vegetative life the work finds inspiration in the latest research into the ways tree communities communicate collaborate and share resources including the work of Suzanne Simard Finding the Mother Tree 2021 It next imagines transformations in how theatre is situated delivered and received and considers the ways in which the performer spectator binary may have to be reconfigured with particular reference to Grotowski's experiments in participatory theatre It poses an even more provocative question is such theorized performance work pointing in the direction of some re imagined version of ritual and ceremony that may find antecedents in pre Christian European belief and practice Finally it locates such eco theatre in the realm of healing climate anxiety depression and grief on the part of instructors students and artists will require us to consider and activate the healing power of the art form perhaps the core purpose of all the arts will shift to support the need to generate solace in times of fear anger and uncertainty This book is intended for instructors both scholars and performance pedagogues in theatre and performance studies as well as graduate and undergraduate students in these areas
