

Sun, Earth, Moon System

The Sun

The Sun is a star, called a main sequence star. It is a glowing ball of gas called plasma, held together by gravity. The Sun's energy is produced by nuclear fusion in its core.

The Earth's Moon

The Moon is a rocky, airless sphere. It is the only celestial body in the sky other than the Sun to be visible to the naked eye.

Phases of the Moon

The Moon orbits the Earth, and as it orbits, it shows different phases. The phases are determined by the relative positions of the Sun, Earth, and Moon.

When the portion of the Moon that is lit is visible from Earth, it is called a waxing phase. When the portion is getting smaller, it is called a waning phase.

Earth's Seasons

The Earth's seasons are caused by the tilt of the Earth's axis. As the Earth orbits the Sun, the tilt causes different parts of the Earth to receive more or less direct sunlight, resulting in seasonal changes.

Earth - Inside & Out

The Earth is made up of three main layers: the crust, the mantle, and the core.

Earth's surface has many shapes and features. Mountains, valleys, and plains are all part of the Earth's topography.

Changing Earth's Surface

- Weathering - physical & chemical
- Erosion
- Deposition
- Landforms
- Volcanoes
- Earthquakes

The Earth's surface changes constantly because of wind, water, temperature changes, and living things. Landforms change constantly due to weathering, which is the process of rocks breaking into smaller pieces. There are two types of weathering - physical and chemical.

The movement of land that has been weathered is called erosion. Erosion is caused by water, wind, gravity, and glaciers. Deposition is the laying down of pieces of Earth's surface. Over time, these landforms can be changed by erosion and deposition.

Some things that occur to nature, such as earthquakes, volcanoes, and tsunamis, can change the Earth's surface.

Earthquakes also cause rapid changes to the Earth's surface. An earthquake is a sudden shift in the Earth's crust that causes the ground to shake and release energy. They most often occur near faults, which are large breaks in the Earth's crust.

A tsunami is a series of waves that travel through the Earth's ocean along the result of an earthquake.

Our Solar System

Formation of Our Solar System

Solar systems begin in interstellar clouds of dust and gas. These clouds are called nebulae. The dust is composed of tiny grains of rock and ice. The gas clouds are made of hydrogen and helium.

Through a process called accretion, dust particles form larger bodies that eventually become planets. The rocky planets are in the inner region of the solar system, and the gas giants are in the outer region.

The Sun

The Sun is a burning ball of gas. It is made of hydrogen and helium. The Sun's energy is produced by nuclear fusion in its core.

The Inner Planets

The inner planets are Mercury, Venus, Earth, and Mars. They are called the terrestrial planets because they are made of rock.

Mercury is the smallest of the inner planets. It is very hot and has no atmosphere.

Venus is the second smallest of the inner planets. It is very hot and has a thick atmosphere.

Earth is the third smallest of the inner planets. It is the only planet with liquid water on its surface.

Mars is the largest of the inner planets. It is very dry and has a thin atmosphere.

The Outer Planets

The outer planets are Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune. They are called the gas giants because they are made of gas.

Jupiter is the largest of the outer planets. It is a gas giant with a large red spot.

Saturn is the second largest of the outer planets. It is a gas giant with a prominent ring system.

Uranus is the third largest of the outer planets. It is a gas giant with a blue-green color.

Neptune is the smallest of the outer planets. It is a gas giant with a deep blue color.

The gas giants are made of hydrogen, helium, and methane. They have many moons and rings.
