Corruption in Eastern Europe Diana Schmidt-Pfister,Holger Moroff,2013-09-13 Anti corruption programmes projects and campaigns have come to constitute an essential aspect of good governance promotion over the last two decades The post communist countries in Eastern Europe have presented one of the first key targets of transnational anti corruption efforts and indeed most of these countries have shown an impressive record of respective measures Yet path breaking institutional and policy developments have not set in before the mid 2000s both at the international level and in most Eastern European countries Are these the beginnings of a mutually synergetic success story In order to answer this question we need to better understand the complex interplay between the international and domestic domains in this policy field and geographic region This book provides in depth and comparative insights about this interplay with a particular focus on the involvement of domestic social movements governmental political machines and international legal mechanisms We find that on all three levels of analysis political and material interests of relevant actors are complemented and at times contradicted by normative claims Moreover at the interfaces of the three levels coincidental and spontaneous developments have largely outweighed systematic implementation and coordination of appropriate anti corruption strategies This book is based on a special issue of Global Crime EIB-information ,2005 Canadian-American Slavic Studies ,2005 A quarterly journal devoted to Russia and East Europe Managing the Transition to Renewable Energy Jeroen C.
