Therapy Today February 2009 A refreshing down to earth text that examines theory and research without becoming an academic tome. It is comprehensive, focused on practice and contains important insights for developing the essential skills required to provide effective bereavement care. Dr John Costello Head of Primary Care University of Manchester Brenda Mallon gives the term grief counselling definition in a way no one has done before. If you are new to counselling the bereaved this book is the best introduction I have seen. If you are an experienced grief counsellor this should be the next book you read. Professor Dennis Klass Webster University. Dying Death and Grief is written for anyone who provides support to adults following bereavement. Whether in a professional or voluntary capacity bereavement care requires empathy, judgement and skill to ensure your response matches the needs of the person you are helping. Recognizing that we all experience bereavement differently this book introduces theory and skills which can be used in any context to address a wide range of needs. The author explains the theoretical background to attachment and loss and the core skills needed to support people who have been bereaved. Case studies and personal accounts illustrate key points and exercises help you examine your own experiences and attitudes in relation to loss. The book also takes into account topics frequently overlooked in other texts such as sexuality, spiritual responses to loss, cultural influences and diversity as well as the nature of chronic and disenfranchised grief. Dying Death and Grief is designed for use on a wide range of training and academic courses that prepare practitioners to work with the bereaved. Professionals in a range of settings including hospitals and in the community as well as volunteers and befrienders in hospices and nursing homes will find this a useful source of guidance. Brenda Mallon is a counsellor, trainer and author who specialises in bereavement care. She is vice chair of The Grief Centre Manchester Area Bereavement Forum.
