"Evil Desires" and the Kingdom of God René Gehring,2009-04-28 Master's Thesis from the year 2009 in the subject World History Early and Ancient History grade 1 0 University of Salzburg language English abstract As the title indicates this treatise explores the field of Jewish sexual ethics It is not intended to research all the areas associated with this topic but to select those realms which best explain the concrete negative attitudes of Jewish society particularly in the first century CE towards sexuality While a very brief introduction provides an interesting background about the pagan i e Greek Roman views on Jews Judaism and Jewish sexuality as far as the few sources allow the main chapters are dealing with the following different perspectives 1 Jewish profane literature 2 Different Jewish sects schools including the early Christian sect 3 Jewish Holy Scripture including the later rabbinic Mishnaic legislations These differing views on that important topic allow to differentiate between some Jewish mainstream practice or understanding and the various facets in different groups or authors The early Christian sect as given in the NT scriptures is included as well as the Mishnaic legislation in order to demonstrate the two most lasting and durable streams of perception Both survived until nowadays in the Jewish and Christian communities which differ quite a lot in legal regulations but still have the same basis as given in the Hebrew Scriptures By researching combining and commenting the numerous Jewish Scriptures this thesis finally explains what is to be understood by the term sexual sin supported by some basic principles although it has not been possible to investigate every aspect of that huge field Thus the goal of providing a well based reasonable argumentation as a foundation of understanding Jewish thinking and practice especially in the most interesting and restless first century CE is reached quite comprehensively The Journal of Jewish Studies ,2005
