Economic Development As A Learning Process Variation Across Sectoral Systems:

Economic Development as a Learning Process Franco Malerba, Richard R. Nelson, 2012 Until recently economists studying economic development have tended to consider it as a universal process or focussed their attention on common aspects This book originates from the growing recognition of significant sectoral differences in economic development and examines the catching up process in five different economic sectors pharmaceuticals telecommunications equipment semiconductors software and agro food industries Each of these sector studies explore the learning and catch up processes in various developing countries in order to identify both the common features and those which differ significantly across sectors and nations The authors pay particular attention to China India Brazil Korea and Taiwan Edited by two of the leading scholars in the field this book will prove to be invaluable for academics and postgraduate students interested in economic and technological development and evolutionary economics
