Excavations At Sissi Iii Preliminary Report On The 2011 Campaign:

Excavations at Sissi III Jan Driessen, 2012 Vol 2 Since 2007 the Belgian School at Athens has undertaken excavations on the Kefali or Buffo hill east of the village of Sissi on the north coast of Crete where a Minoan site was occupied approximately between 2500 and 1200 BC This volume is the follow up of an earlier one on the 2007 2008 excavations published as Aegis 1 and presents a preliminary report on the excavations carried out in 2009 and 2010 It concentrates on the different zones examined within the cemetery and settlement There are also reports on the Late Minoan pottery site conservation and environmental analysis as well as a paper on the use of GIS at Sissi

The Routledge Handbook of Archaeothanatology Christopher J. Knüsel, Eline M. J. Schotsmans, 2022-04-28 The Routledge Handbook of Archaeothanatology spans the gap between archaeology and biological anthropology the field and laboratory and between francophone and anglophone funerary archaeological approaches to the remains of the dead and the understanding of societies past and present Interest in archaeothanatology has grown considerably in recent years in English language scholarship This timely publication moves away from anecdotal case studies to offer syntheses of archaeothanatological approaches with an eye to higher level inferences about funerary behaviour and its meaning in the past Written by francophone scholars who have contributed to the development of the field and anglophone scholars inspired by the approach this volume offers detailed insight into the background and development of archaeothanatology its theory methods applications and its most recent advances with a lexicon of related vocabulary This volume is a key source for archaeo anthropologists and bioarchaeologists It will benefit researchers lecturers practitioners and students in biological anthropology archaeology taphonomy and forensic science Given the interdisciplinary nature of these disciplines and the emphasis placed on analysis in situ this book will also be of interest to specialists in entomology micro biology and soil science

Minoan Architecture and Urbanism Quentin Letesson, Carl Knappett, 2017-07-04 Minoan Crete is rightly famous for its idiosyncratic architecture as well as its palaces and towns such as Knossos Malia Gournia and Palaikastro Indeed these are often described as the first urban settlements of Bronze Age Europe However we still know relatively little about the dynamics of these early urban centres How did they work What role did the palaces have in their towns and the towns in their landscapes It might seem that with such richly documented architectural remains these questions would have been answered long ago Yet analysis has mostly found itself confined to building materials and techniques basic formal descriptions and functional evaluations Critical evaluation of these data as constituting a dynamic built environment has thus been slow in coming This volume aims to provide a first step in this direction It brings together international scholars whose research focuses on Minoan architecture and urbanism as well as on theory and methods in spatial analyses By combining methodological contributions with detailed case studies across the different scales of buildings settlements and regions the volume proposes a new analytical and interpretive framework for addressing the complex dynamics of the Minoan built environment OIKOS Maria Relaki, Jan Driessen, 2020-07-28 This collection of papers explores whether the Lévi-Straussian notion of the House is a valid concept in aiding the comprehension of the social structure of Bronze Age Aegean societies The volume succeeds in stressing the advances made in the study of social structure of the Aegean on the basis of material remains

Children, Death and Burial Eileen Murphy, Mélie Le Roy, 2017-08-31 Children Death and Burials assembles a panorama of studies with a focus on juvenile burials the 16 papers have a wide geographic and temporal breadth and represent a range of methodological approaches All have a similar objective in mind however namely to understand how children were treated in death by different cultures in the past to gain insights concerning the roles of children of different ages in their respective societies and to find evidence of the nature of past adult child relationships and interactions across the life course The contextualisation and integration of the data collected both in the field and in the laboratory enables more nuanced understandings to be gained in relation to the experiences of the young in the past A broad range of issues are addressed within the volume including the inclusion/exclusion of children in particular burial environments and the impact of age in relation to the place of children in society Child burials clearly embody identity and the domestic child the vulnerable child the high status child the cherished child the potential child the ritual child and the political child and combinations thereof are evident throughout the narratives Investigation of the burial practices afforded to children is pivotal to enlightenment in relation to key facets of past life including the emotional responses shown towards children during life and in death as well as an understanding of their place within the social strata and ritual activities of their societies An important new collection of papers by leading researchers in funerary archaeology examining the particular treatment of juvenile burials in the past In particular focuses on the expression of varying status and identity of children in the funerary archaeological record as a key to understanding the place of children in different societies Ugarit-Forschungen, 2015

University of Michigan, Leroy WATERMAN, Cleveland Museum of Art, Toledo Museum of Art (TOLEDO, Ohio), 1931 Phase III Archaeological Excavations at the Woodlyn Site (22DS517): A Preliminary Report on AMS Dates and Associated Materials Amanda Leigh Brock, 2012 The University of Memphis conducted field school excavations at the Woodlyn archaeological site 22DS517 during the summers of 1997 and 1998 Seventeen units were excavated yielding a multitude of artifacts data and features AMS dates were obtained from radiocarbon samples collected during the excavations To better understand the extent of the temporal occupation at Woodlyn and to further refine the age range and cultural markers of the Walls Phase I examined the artifacts and features associated with the dated radiocarbon samples During the mid sixteenth century Woodlyn was a town included in the polity known as Quizquiz based on the Hernando De Soto narratives Archaeologists have suggested that the Woodlyn site was abandoned prior to De Soto's arrival in the southeast while others speculate that the De Soto expedition may have encountered Woodlyn before crossing the Mississippi River The radiometric age range distributions suggest that Woodlyn was still active shortly before the arrival of the De Soto expedition The new AMS dates provide an important data set for the interpretation of the Walls phase and its association with the De Soto expedition
