Unexpected Alison Piepmeier, 2021-02-23 What prenatal tests and down syndrome reveal about our reproductive choices When Alison Piepmeier scholar of feminism and disability studies and mother of Maybelle an eight year old girl with Down syndrome died of cancer in August 2016 she left behind an important unfinished manuscript about motherhood prenatal testing and disability In Unexpected George Estreich and Rachel Adams pick up where she left off honoring the important research of their friend and colleague as well as adding new perspectives to her work Based on interviews with parents of children with Down syndrome as well as women who terminated their pregnancies because their fetus was identified as having the condition Unexpected paints an intimate nuanced picture of reproductive choice in today s world Piepmeier takes us inside her own daughter s life showing how Down syndrome is misunderstood stigmatized and condemned particularly in the context of prenatal testing At a time when medical technology is rapidly advancing Unexpected provides a much needed perspective on our complex and frequently troubling understanding of Down syndrome A Handbook for Caring Science William Rosa, Sara Horton-Deutsch, Jean Watson, 2018-09-28 A monumental compendium of Caring Science past present and future This groundbreaking work is an encyclopedic reference on the full spectrum of Human Caring Science With contributions from highly accomplished scholars and practitioners from six continents it spans the evolution of Caring Science from its origins 40 years ago through its ongoing innovation and development and into the future Comprehensive and in depth this resource brings multigenerational perspectives to Caring Science and demonstrates its ethical nursing applications across cross cultural settings worldwide The book s broad scope embodies the paradigm s theoretical foundations guidance from Caring Science educators and researchers and practice insights from expert clinicians and administrators It offers strategies to influence meaningful policy change integrate principles throughout cross cultural and global settings and introduces inspiring voices from luminaries in coaching Caring Science creative arts spirituality and self care The text clearly demonstrates how theories frameworks and paradigms are directly integrated into practice research and educational settings Scholarly narratives and discourses on Caring Science will facilitate understanding of how to transform systems with a caring consciousness and ethically informed action Chapters consistently formatted to promote ease of comprehension include exemplars with reflective questions and references Key Features Traces the history of Caring Science and merges it with current and future perspectives Provides a how to guide for understanding the integration of theories frameworks and paradigms into practice research and education Distills a vision of how to transform systems with a caring consciousness and a commitment to ethically informed action Enables readers to cross reference Caring Science leaders across specialties Illustrates Caring Science practice through case studies examples and discourses Supports hospitals in procuring or maintaining ANCC Magnet certification Identifies research and practice opportunities for readers to integrate Caring Science into their professional milieus Choosing Down Syndrome Chris Kaposy, 2022-08-09 An argument that more people should have children with Down syndrome written from a pro choice disability positive perspective The rate at which parents choose to terminate a pregnancy when prenatal tests indicate that the fetus has Down syndrome is between 60 and 90 percent In Choosing Down Syndrome Chris Kaposy offers a carefully reasoned ethical argument in favor of choosing to have such a child Arguing from a pro choice disability positive perspective Kaposy makes the case that there is a common social bias against cognitive disability that influences decisions about prenatal testing and terminating pregnancies and that more people should resist this bias by having children with Down syndrome Drawing on accounts by parents of children with Down syndrome and arguing for their objectivity Kaposy finds that these parents see themselves and their families as having benefitted from having a child with Down syndrome To counter those who might characterize these accounts as based on self deception or expressing adaptive preference Kaposy cites supporting evidence including divorce rates and observational studies showing that families including children with Down syndrome typically function well Himself the father of a child with Down syndrome Kaposy argues that cognitive disability associated with Down syndrome does not lead to diminished well being He argues further that parental expectations are influenced by neoliberal ideologies that unduly focus on the supposed diminished economic potential of a person with Down syndrome Kaposy does not advocate restricting access to abortion or prenatal testing for Down syndrome and he does not argue that it is ethically mandatory in all cases to give birth to a child with Down syndrome People should be free to make important decisions based on their values Kaposy s argument shows that it may be consistent with their values to welcome a child with Down syndrome into the family
