The Universe as Communion Alexei Nesteruk, 2008-07-01 In this book a new and distinctive approach to the science religion debate emerges from a synthesis of the Eastern Orthodox Christian tradition with phenomenological thought Developing ideas of Greek Patristics the author treats faith with its sense of the Divine presence and knowledge of the universe as two modes of communion which constitute the human condition The modern opposition between science and theology which is historically paralleled with the Church's split between East and West and monasticism and Christianity in the world is treated as the split between two intentionalities of the overall human subjectivity The human person as a centre of their reconciliation becomes the major theme of the dialogue between science and theology It is argued that the reconciliation of science and theology is not simply an academic exercise it requires an existential change a change of mind metanoia which cannot be effected without ecclesial involvement Then the person who effectuates the mediation between science and theology is raised to the level of cosmic priesthood while the mediation acquires the features of a cosmic Eucharist in which all divisions and tensions in creation and humanity are removed It is through this existential change accompanied by phenomenological analysis that scientific theories can be subjected to a certain vision through which the hidden ultimate goal telos of scientific research as the explication of the human condition shows its kinship to the saving telos advocated by Christian faith The opposition between theology and science is thus being para eucharistically overcome

Logic, Philosophy and History Anthony F. Russell, 1984-01-10 Understanding Cities Alexander Cuthbert, 2011-06-06 Understanding Cities is richly textured complex and challenging It creates the vital link between urban design theory and praxis and opens the required methodological gateway to a new and unified field of urban design Using spatial political economy as his most important reference point Alexander Cuthbert both interrogates and challenges mainstream urban design and provides an alternative and viable comprehensive framework for a new synthesis He rejects the idea of yet another theory in urban design and chooses instead to construct the necessary intellectual and conceptual scaffolding for what he terms The New Urban Design Building both on Michel de Certeau's concept of heterology thinking about thinking and on the framework of his previous books Designing Cities and The Form of Cities Cuthbert uses his prior adopted framework history philosophy politics culture gender environment aesthetics typologies and pragmatics to create three integrated texts Overall the trilogy allows a new field of urban design to emerge Pre existing and new knowledge are integrated across all three volumes of which Understanding Cities is the culminating text
