Essays in Little, by Andrew Lang... Andrew Lang, 1912 Essays in Little Andrew Lang, 2020-09-28 Alexandre Dumas is a writer and his life is a topic of which his devotees never weary Indeed one lifetime is not long enough wherein to tire of them The long days and years of Hilpa and Shalum in Addison the antediluvian age when a picnic lasted for half a century and a courtship for two hundred years might have sufficed for an exhaustive study of Dumas No such study have I to offer in the brief seasons of our perishable days I own that I have not read and do not in the circumstances expect to read all of Dumas nor even the greater part of his thousand volumes We only dip a cup in that sparkling spring and drink and go on we cannot hope to exhaust the fountain nor to carry away with us the well itself It is but a word of gratitude and delight that we can say to the heroic and indomitable master only an ave of friendship that we can call across the bourne to the shade of the Porthos of fiction That his works his best works should be even still more widely circulated than they are that the young should read them and learn frankness kindness generosity should esteem the tender heart and the gay invincible wit that the old should read them again and find forgetfulness of trouble and taste the anodyne of dreams that is what we desire Two anecdotes are told of Dumas books one by M Edmond About the other by his own son which show in brief space why this novelist is so beloved and why he deserves our affection and esteem M Villaud a railway engineer who had lived much in Italy Russia and Spain was the person whose enthusiasm finally secured a statue for Dumas He felt so much gratitude to the unknown friend of lonely nights in long exiles that he could not be happy till his gratitude found a permanent expression On returning to France he went to consult M Victor Borie who told him this tale about George Sand M Borie chanced to visit the famous

novelist just before her death and found Dumas novel Les Quarante Cinq one of the cycle about the Valois kings lying on her table He expressed his wonder that she was reading it for the first time Essays in Little (1891) by Andrew Lang Andrew Lang,2016-03-26 Andrew Lang 31 March 1844 20 July 1912 was a Scottish poet novelist literary critic and contributor to the field of anthropology He is best known as a collector of folk and fairy tales The Andrew Lang lectures at the University of St Andrews are named after him Lang was born in Selkirk He was the eldest of the eight children born to John Lang the town clerk of Selkirk and his wife Jane Plenderleath Sellar who was the daughter of Patrick Sellar factor to the first duke of Sutherland On 17 April 1875 he married Leonora Blanche Alleyne youngest daughter of C T Alleyne of Clifton and Barbados She was or should have been variously credited as author collaborator or translator of Lang s Color Rainbow Fairy Books which he edited Essays in Little Andrew Lang,2019-04-26 in the prison on the desert isle And then Dumas comes and like Argive Helen in Homer he casts a drug into the wine the drug nepenthe that puts all evil out of mind Does any one suppose that when George Sand was old and tired and near her death she would have found this anodyne and this stimulant in the novels of M Tolstoi M Dostoiefsky M Zola or any of the scientific observers whom we are actually requested to hail as the masters of a new art the art of the future Essays in Little Andrew Lang,2021-04-16 Essays in Little Andrew Lang,2019-12-05 In Essays in Little Andrew Lang presents a collection of brief yet profound essays that epitomize the art of concise writing Each essay delves into assorted themes ranging from folklore and mythology to critiques of contemporary society all conveyed with Lang s characteristic wit and charm The book is structured in a way that reflects the Victorian era s fascination with brevity and literary precision capturing the essence of a variety of subjects while engaging the reader with its lively prose and insightful observations Lang s literary style marked by a blend of erudition and accessibility invites readers to explore complex ideas in an elegantly compact form Andrew Lang a notable Scottish poet novelist and literary critic was heavily involved in the study of folklore and mythology which greatly influenced his writing His extensive background in classical literature and his intimate knowledge of cultural narratives informed the essays in this compilation Lang was also a member of the so called Lang School of anthropological thought which valued narrative as a means to understand cultural dynamics lending depth to his essays Essays in Little is an essential read for those who appreciate the beauty of language and the power of brevity It serves as both an introduction to Lang s literary prowess and a reflection on the cultural milieu of the era Readers seeking a thoughtful exploration of diverse topics presented in a clear and engaging manner will find this collection not only enlightening but also a testament to Lang s enduring legacy In this enriched edition we have carefully created added value for your reading experience A comprehensive Introduction outlines these selected works unifying features themes or stylistic evolutions A Historical Context section situates the works in their broader era social currents cultural trends and key events that underpin their creation A concise Synopsis Selection offers an accessible overview of the included texts helping readers navigate plotlines and main ideas without revealing critical twists A unified

Cultivating Belief Sebastian Lecourt, 2018-04-05 This book explores how a group of Victorian liberal writers that included George Eliot Walter Pater and Matthew Arnold became attracted to new theories of religion as a function of race and ethnicity Since the early modern period British liberals had typically constructed religion as a zone of personal belief that defined modern individuality and interiority During the 1860s however Eliot Arnold and other literary liberals began to claim that religion could actually do the most for the modern self when it came as a kind of involuntary inheritance Stimulated by the emerging science of anthropology they imagined that religious experiences embedded in race or ethnicity could render the self heterogeneous while the individual who insisted upon selecting his or her own beliefs would become narrow and parochial By rethinking the grounds of religion this book argues these writers were ultimately trying to shift liberal individualism away from a classical Protestant liberalism that celebrated interiority and agency and toward one that valorized eclecticism and the capacity to keep multiple values in play More broadly their work offers us a new picture of secularization not as a process of religious decline but as the reinscription of religion as an ordinary feature of human life like art or politics or sex whose function could be debated

Selected Works of William Henry Davenport Adams William Henry Davenport Adams, 2020-09-28 The Princess Helena Koltzoff Massalsky better known by her pseudonym of Dora d'Istria came of the family of the Ghikas formerly princes of Wallachia and was born at Bucharest on the 22nd of January 1829 Through the care and conscientiousness of her instructor Mons Papadopoulos and her own remarkable capacity she acquired a very complete and comprehensive education When but eleven years old she composed a charming little story and before she had reached womanhood undertook a translation of the Iliad She showed no inclination for the frivolous amusements of a frivolous society Her view of life and its responsibilities was a serious one and she addressed all her energies to the work of self-improvement and self-culture She read and re-read the literary masterpieces of England France and Germany As a linguist she earned special distinction Her intellectual faculties says her master M Papadopoulos expanded with so much rapidity that the professors charged with her instruction could not keep any other pupil abreast of her in the same studies Not only did she make a wholly unexpected and unlooked-for progress but it became necessary for her teachers to employ with her a particular method her genius could not submit to the restraint of ordinary rules She was still in the springtime and flush of youth when she went on a tour to Germany and visited several German courts where she excited the same sentiments of admiration as in her own country it was impossible to see her without being attracted by so much intellect grace and amiability Travelling enlarged her horizon she was able to survey as from a watch tower the course of great political events and she found herself mixing continually with the most celebrated savants and statesmen of the age Her friendly relations with persons of very diverse opinions while enabling her to compare and contrast a great variety of theories did but strengthen in her the idea and sentiment of liberty which can alone conduct society to its true aim Finally from the Italian revolution of 1848 which awoke her warmest sympathies she learned to understand the fatal consequences of despotic government as well as the inevitable mistakes of freedom when first unfettered and allowed to walk alone At the age of twenty she was married February 1849 and soon afterwards she set out for St Petersburg where she was recognised as the ornament of the higher society In the midst of her numerous engagements in the midst of the homage rendered to her wit and grace she found time to collect a mass of valuable notes on the condition and inner life of the great Russian Empire several provinces of which she knew from personal observation From St Petersburg to Moscow from Odessa to Revel her untiring activity carried her Most social questions are at work under an apparent calm and offer therefore subjects well worthy of careful study especially to so grave and clear an intellect as that of Princess Dora d Istria who possessed in the highest degree the faculty of steady meditation amidst the movement and the world stir that surrounded her The world charmed by her personal attractions had no suspicion of the restlessness and activity of her inquiring mind The gentlewoman in society baroness Beatrice Violet Greville,1892
