

Lab. 18 – Finding Genotypes and Phenotypes For One Trait

Name _____
Date _____ Period _____ Group _____

In genetics, it is possible to calculate the results that should appear in offspring if the genotypes of both parents are known. There are called expected results. Expected results can be calculated by mathematics or use of Punnett squares. Thus, expected results are specific numbers and are not the result of random events. Observed results are those that appear in offspring in actual crossings. They are due to chance combinations of certain genes. Thus, observed results are always due to chance.

Expected and observed results may not always agree exactly, but there should be some agreement. Expected results are used to predict the results of a cross before the cross is done. If the expected results indicate that a certain type of offspring is likely, the cross can be carried out with some certainty that the type of offspring will appear in the observed results.

Part A. Determining Numbers of Expected Genotypes

How many of each genotype combination are expected in the offspring of a cross if both parents are Ss for a trait?

- Use the Punnett square in Figure 18-1 to determine the genotypes. Record the number of each genotype in column A of Table 18-1 below.
- How many of each genotype combination are expected if there are 100 offspring? Multiply each number in column A by 25. Record this number in column B of Table 18-1.
