First, Do No Harm Lisa Belkin,2021-02-16 Crammed with provocative insights raw emotion and heartbreaking dilemmas The New York Times First Do No Harm is a powerful examination of how life and death decisions are made at a major metropolitan hospital in Houston as told through the stories of doctors patients families and hospital administrators facing unthinkable choices What is life worth And when is a life worth living Journalist Lisa Belkin examines how these questions are asked and answered over one dramatic summer at Hermann Hospital in Houston Texas In an account that is fascinating revealing and almost novelistic in its immediacy Belkin takes us inside a major hospital and introduces us to the people who must make life and death decisions every day As we walk through the hallways of the hospital we meet a young pediatrician who must decide whether to perform a risky last ditch surgery on a teenager who has spent most of his fifteen years in a hospital we watch as new parents battle with doctors over whether to disconnect their fragile premature twins from the machine that keeps them breathing we are in the operating room as a poor immigrant paralyzed from a gunshot in the neck is asked by doctors whether or not he wishes to stay alive we witness the worry of a kidney specialist as he decides whether or not to transfer an uninsured baby to the county hospital down the road We experience critical moments in the lives of these real people as Belkin explores challenging issues and questions involving medical ethics human suffering modern technology legal liability and financial reality As medical technology advances the choices grow more complicated How far should we go to save a life Who decides And who pays
