Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue Ray Pitz, 2012-04 In the early days of fighting fires in Beaverton Oregon a bugle called firefighters to the scene The Beaverton Enterprise newspaper reported that with no water system firefighters had to rely upon water buckets and the enthusiasm of volunteers who came running to the call In 1935 Beaverton officially formed its first fire department and down the road in the city of Tualatin a group of volunteers began assembling what would become the Tualatin Rural Fire Protection District In 1989 a merger of the latter department with Washington County Fire District No 1 resulted in the creation of Tualatin Valley Fire Rescue Beaverton would officially annex into the new district in 1996 and today TVF R is the second largest fire department in Oregon covering 210 square miles with 21 stations Since the beginning the departments that comprise the district were known for their resourcefulness and innovation both of which continue to this day

New Dimension, Enhancing the Fire and Rescue Services' Capacity to Respond to Terrorist and Other Large-scale Incidents Great Britain. National Audit Office, 2008 The 330 million New Dimension programme has enhanced the 46 English Fire and Rescue Services capacity to respond to terrorist attacks and other catastrophic incidents such as major flooding But better value for money could have been secured in the procurement of the specialist vehicles and equipment The programme was introduced following the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 It involved procuring specialist vehicles and equipment training 10 000 fire fighters and helping to prepare Fire and Rescue Services to tackle terrorist and other major incidents The equipment has already been used successfully at three major incidents to date the Buncefield fire the 2007 summer floods and at the Warwickshire warehouse collapse in November 2007 Funding uncertainty and poor programme project and financial management in the early days of the project resulted in delays in introducing the equipment and significant cost overruns A fraud of 867 200 within the programme remained undetected for 9 months and in procuring one vehicle type for example poor contracting and record keeping resulted in a delay of a year and unnecessary costs of between 3 and 8 million Improvements in programme and financial management have since been made But more still needs to be done to address weaknesses which might hamper future incident response In particular the department need to address uncertainties over the respective roles of national co ordinating bodies and
