Genes Trade And Regulation The Seeds Of Conflict In Food Biotechnology:

Genes, Trade, and Regulation Thomas Bernauer, 2003 This book provides novel and thought provoking insights into the fundamental policy issues involved in agricultural biotechnology Thomas Bernauer explains global regulatory polarization and trade conflict in this area He then evaluates co operative and unilateral policy tools for coping with trade tensions Arguing that the tools used thus far have been and will continue to be ineffective he concludes that the risk of a full blown trade conflict is high and may lead to reduced investment and the decline of the technology Bernauer concludes with suggestions for policy reforms to halt this trajectory recommendations that strike a balance between public safety concerns and private economic freedom so that food biotechnology is given a fair chance to prove its environmental health humanitarian and economic benefits The International Politics of Genetically Modified Food R. Falkner, 2015-12-11 Genetically modified food is at the heart of a new global conflict over how to govern risky technologies in an era of globalization This timely collection brings together experts from the fields of IR environmental studies trade and law to examine the sources of international friction and to explore the prospects for international co operation Regulating Next Generation Agri-Food Biotechnologies Michael Howlett, David Laycock, 2013-05-07 Agri food bio technology policy and regulation is transitioning from an early period focused on genetic engineering technologies to next generation rules and regulatory processes linked to challenges originating in a wide variety of new technological processes and applications Can lessons learned from past and current regulatory oversights of agricultural biotechnology and other high technology sectors help us address new and emerging regulatory challenges in the agri food genetics sector The expert contributors in this volume discuss the experiences of a wide range of North American European and Asian countries with high technology regulation to address four key questions related to the past and future development of agri food genomics regulation across the globe how unique is agri food biotechnology regulation and how can it be evaluated using the existing tools of regulatory analysis developed in examinations of other sectors is a government to governance model of regulatory regime development found in many other sectors relevant in this rapidly evolving sphere of activity is a stages model of regulatory regime development accurate And if so at which stage are we currently positioned in the regulation of agri food genomics products and technologies what drives movement between stages in different countries and sectors In assessing such drivers what are the key links between sectoral meso developments and more general macro and micro developments such as international relations and administrative behaviour By updating extending and challenging earlier empirical and theoretical social science perspectives on agricultural bio technological regulation this volume helps to inform future policy formulation It will be of interest to practitioners and students of biotechnology agriculture and science and technology policy and regulatory processes more generally Risk Regulation, Science, and Interests in Transatlantic Trade Conflicts D. Hornsby, 2013-10-16 When regions like Canada the US and the EU have disagreed over the legitimacy of risk perceptions they have placed science at the centre of international trade conflict By looking across cases disputed and informally resolved David Hornsby offers to deepen understanding of factors involved in risk based trade conflict      The New Harvest Calestous Juma,2015 African agriculture is currently at a crossroads at which persistent food shortages are compounded by threats from climate change But as this book argues Africa can feed itself in a generation and can help contribute to global food security To achieve this Africa has to define agriculture as a force in economic growth by advancing scientific and technological research investing in infrastructure fostering higher technical training and creating regional markets      Transatlantic Regulation Susanne Lütz,2016-03-16 The European and American economies are closely interlinked as mutually important investment and trading partners The growing intensity of economic interdependence has spurred the transatlantic coordination of rules and standards that can lead to the formation of non tariff barriers to transatlantic commerce But despite impressive government to government efforts to eliminate market barriers the E U and the U S have frequently clashed over each other s regulatory policies The aim of this book is to explore the domestic sources of cooperation or conflict in transatlantic regulation The book analyses the role of domestic factors through three theoretical lenses that are well established in the study of multilevel systems the principal agent approach the two level game metaphor and through a wider concept of institutionalism which emphasises the links between societal interests and regulatory ideas with institutional frameworks The book states that domestic factors embody more obstacles than opportunities for horizontal coordination It is argued that transatlantic relations will likely undergo a double movement of being simultaneously shifted upwards to become part of the global governance architecture and downwards towards broader involvement of legislators in regulatory matters Hence transatlantic regulation might in the near future be shaped more by political leaders rent seeking interest groups and legislators than by networks of technocrats This book was published as a special issue of the Review of International Political Economy      Symposium ,2008      The Politics of Biotechnology in North America and Europe Éric Montpetit,Christine Rothmayr,Frédéric Varone,2007 Biotechnology is one of the most important new issues to emerge in the knowledge economy The Politics of Biotechnology in North America and Europe provides analysts with a perspective on policy making in scientifically advanced countries that integrate the insights of several approaches and that display a particular sensitivity to the complexity of policy making conjectures This perspective allows going beyond the simplistic understandings of biotechnology policy currently prevailing This volume provides a rigorous analysis and detailed information on biotechnology policy in nine countries The essays included here present the results of in depth empirical research in the area of biomedicine and agro food biotechnology The book is therefore not only of interest to policy makers and policy analysts but also to anyone with an interest in biotechnology      Labeling Policies and International Trade of Genetically Modified Food Guillaume Pierre Adrien Gruere,2005      The Journal of Environment & Development ,2006      Business Power and Conflict in International Environmental Politics Robert Falkner,2008 Robert Falkner s excellent book addresses a vitally important topic on which the literature is relatively under developed His approach is radically different and directly engages existing explanations of the role of business in global environmental politics This will certainly mean its appearance on reading lists John Vogler Professor of International relations Keele University UK Falkner s contribution is to demonstrate how accounts of the considerable power and influence of business can remain strongly sensitive to the varied nature of business interests and the particularity of the political circumstances with which they are inevitably enmeshed Dan Greenwood International Affairs Bibliographic Index ,2006 Journal of Economic Literature ,2004 Institutional Interplay Oran R. Young,2008 International institutions and the consequences of their interplay are emerging as a major agenda item for research and policy As governments enter into an ever increasing number of international agreements questions arise about the overlap of issues jurisdiction and membership Of particular interest to practitioners and analysts is how this m lange of institutions at the international level intersects and interrelates to influence and affect the content operation performance and effectiveness of a specific institution as well as the functioning of the overall global governance context Biosafety an issue relevant to numerous institutions offers a case study for exploring and applying interplay in practical terms Publisher s description Journal of Public Policy ,2004 Loyola of Los Angeles International & Comparative Law Review ,2006 American Book Publishing Record ,2004 The Brown Journal of World Affairs ,2007 The Impact of the WTO Trish Kelly,2007 Provides an analysis of the nine environmental and health disputes that have been adjudicated at the WTO since 1995 This book appeals not only to academics be they economists lawyers political scientists and academic libraries but also practitioners policymakers and members of consumer environmental and business organizations Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2003-12
