The North American Mosaic Commission for Environmental Cooperation (Montréal, Québec). Secretariat, 2001 The North American Mosaic has four overarching features. First, it is to the extent feasible based on comparable information on the status and trends of major indicators of the state of the environment in Canada, Mexico, and the United States. Second, the report confirms that these three countries together make up an incredibly complex, dynamic, and interconnected ecosystem in which humans play a dominant and decisive role. Third, the report raises important and sometimes disquieting questions concerning the sustainability of some current trends. Finally, the report is a reminder that our economic, social, and physical well-being are utterly dependent on the life-sustaining services provided by nature. This report emphasizes the importance of developing mutually compatible economic, social, and environmental goals and policies across the three-country region.
