Geographies Of Muslim Identities Diaspora Gender And Belonging Re Materialising Cultural Geography:

Geographies of Muslim Identities Peter Hopkins, 2016-04-15 In recent years geographies of identities including those of ethnicity religion race and gender have formed an increasing focus of contemporary human geography The events of September 11th 2001 particularly illustrated the ways in which identities can be transformed across time and space by both global and local events of a social cultural political and economic nature Such transformations have also demonstrated the temporal and spatial construction of hate and fear and of increasing incidences of Islamophobia through the construction of Muslims as the Other As the social scientific study of religion continues to be marginalized within mainstream scholarship there remains an important gap in the literature This timely book addresses this gap by collecting a range of cutting edge contributions from the social cultural political historical and economic sub disciplines of geography together with writings from gender studies cultural studies and leisure studies where research has revealed a strong spatial dimension to the construction representation contestation and reworking of Muslim identities The contributors illustrate the ways in which such identities are constructed represented negotiated and contested in everyday life in a wide variety of international contexts focusing upon issues connected with diaspora gender and belonging Geographies of Muslim Identities Cara Aitchison, Peter E. Cultural Landscapes of Post-Socialist Cities Mariusz Czepczynski, 2016-04-22 The cultural landscapes of Central European cities reflect over half a century of socialism and are marked by the Marxists vision of a utopian landscape Architecture urban planning and the visual arts were considered to be powerful means of expressing the people s power However since the velvet revolutions of 1989 this urban scenery has been radically transformed by new forces and trends infused by the free market democracy and liberalization This has led to landscape cleansing and recycling as these former communist nations used new architectural functional and social forms to transform their urbanscapes their meanings and uses Comparing case studies from different post socialist cities this book examines the culturally conditional variations between local powers and structures despite the similarities in the general processes and systems It considers the contemporary cultural landscapes of these post socialist cities as a dynamic fusion of the old communist forms and new free market meanings features and democratic practices of global influences and local icons The book assesses whether these urbanscapes clearly reflect the social cultural and political conditions and aspirations of these transitional countries and so a critical analysis of them provides important insights In the Shadows of the Tropics

James S. Duncan, 2016-05-23 In this original work James Duncan explores the transformation of Ceylon during the mid nineteenth century into one of the most important coffee growing regions of the world and investigates the consequent ecological disaster which erased coffee from the island Using this fascinating case study by way of illustration In the Shadows of the Tropics reveals the spatial unevenness and fragmentation of modernity through a focus on modern governmentality and biopower It argues that the practices of colonial power and the differences that race and tropical climates were thought to make were central to the working out of modern governmental rationalities In this context the usefulness of Foucault's notions of biopower discipline and governmentality are examined The work contributes an important rural focus to current work on studies of governmentality in geography and offers a welcome non state dimension by considering the role of the plantation economy and individual capitalists in the lives and deaths of labourers the destabilization of subsistence farming and the aggressive re territorialization of populations from India to Ceylon

Spaces of Hope Richard Phillips,2009-11-12 Debates about contemporary Islam and Muslims in the West have taken some negative turns in the depressing atmosphere of the war on terror and its aftermath This book argues that we have been too preoccupied with problems not enough with solutions The increased mobilisation and scrutiny of Muslim identities has taken place in the context of a more general recasting of racial ideas and racism a shift from overtly racial to ostensibly ethnic and cultural including religious categories within discourses of social difference The targeting of Muslims has been associated with new forms of an older phenomenon imperialism New divisions between Muslims and others echo colonial binaries of black and white colonised and coloniser within practices of divide and rule This book speaks to others who have been marginalised and colonised and to wider debates about social difference oppression and liberation Muslim Diaspora in
