Dislocating Race And Nation Episodes In Nineteenth Century American Literary Nationalism:

Dislocating Race & Nation Robert Steven Levine, 2008 American literary nationalism is traditionally understood as a cohesive literary tradition developed in the newly independent United States that emphasized the unique features of America and consciously differentiated American literature from British literature

Race, Transnationalism, and Nineteenth-Century American Literary Studies Robert S. Levine, 2017-11-02 Inspired by Toni Morrison's call for an interracial approach to American literature and by recent efforts to globalize American literary studies Race Transnationalism and Nineteenth Century American Literary Studies ranges widely in its case study approach to canonical and non canonical authors Leading critic Robert S Levine considers Cooper Hawthorne Stowe Melville and other nineteenth century American writers alongside less well known African American figures such as Nathaniel Paul and Sutton Griggs He pays close attention to racial representations and ideology in nineteenth century American writing while exploring the inevitable tension between the local and the global in this writing Levine addresses transatlanticism the Black Atlantic citizenship empire temperance climate change black nationalism book history temporality Kantian transnational aesthetics and a number of other issues The book also provides a compelling critical frame for understanding developments in American literary studies over the past twenty five years

The Race for America R. J. Boutelle, 2023-09-13 As Manifest Destiny took hold in the national consciousness what did it mean for African Americans who were excluded from its ambitions for an expanding American empire that would shepherd the Western Hemisphere into a new era of civilization and prosperity R J Boutelle explores how Black intellectuals like Daniel Peterson James McCune Smith Mary Ann Shadd Henry Bibb and Martin Delany engaged this cultural mythology to theorize and practice Black internationalism He uncovers how their strategies for challenging Manifest Destiny's white nationalist ideology and expansionist political agenda constituted a form of disidentification a deconstructing and reassembling of this discourse that marshals Black experiences as racialized subjects to imagine novel geopolitical mythologies and projects to compete with Manifest Destiny Employing Black internationalist hemispheric and diasporic frameworks to examine the emigrationist and solidarity projects that African Americans proposed as alternatives to Manifest Destiny Boutelle attends to sites integral to US aspirations of hemispheric dominion Liberia Nicaragua Canada and Cuba In doing so Boutelle offers a searing history of how internalized fantasies of American exceptionalism burdened the Black geopolitical imagination that encouraged settler colonial and imperialist projects in the Americas and West Africa

Intimacy and Family in Early American Writing E. Burleigh, 2014-05-21 Through the prism of intimacy Burleigh sheds light on eighteenth and early nineteenth century American texts This insightful study shows how the trope of the family recurred to produce contradictory images both intimately familiar and frighteningly alienating through which Americans responded to upheavals in their cultural landscape

Minority Reports Michael Borgstrom, 2010-06-15 How do views about the identities of authors influence interpretations of their works Through close readings of texts by African American and women authors Minority Reports offers a theoretical defense of the use of identity categories in American studies by examining how early American literature not only responds to the social stratification of the nineteenth century but also challenges modern historical conceptions of this era By foregrounding the significance of early minority authored texts to contemporary theoretical analysis Minority Reports thus reconfigures traditional histories of racial sexual and gender identities while it simultaneously reassesses recent paradigms for minority identity more generally The Mississippi Quarterly ,2014

Stanford ,2009 The Works of James M. Whitfield Robert S. Levine,Ivy G. Wilson,2011-02-01 In this comprehensive volume of the collected writings of James Monroe Whitfield 1822-71 Robert S Levine and Ivy G Wilson restore this African American poet abolitionist and intellectual to his rightful place in the arts and politics of the nineteenth century United States Whitfield's works including poems from his celebrated America and Other Poems 1853 were printed in influential journals and newspapers such as Frederick Douglass's The North Star A champion of the black emigration movement during the 1850s Whitfield was embraced by African Americans as a black nationalist bard when he moved from his longtime home in Buffalo New York to California in the early 1860s However by the beginning of the twentieth century his reputation had faded For this volume Levine and Wilson gathered and annotated all of Whitfield's extant writings both poetry and prose and many pieces are reprinted here for the first time since their original publication In their thorough introduction the editors situate Whitfield in relation to key debates on black nationalism in African American culture underscoring the importance of poetry and periodical culture to black writing during the period The Norton Anthology of American Literature
