On the Freedom Side Wesley C. Hogan, 2019-10-02 As Wesley C Hogan sees it the future of democracy belongs to young people While today s generation of leaders confronts a daunting array of existential challenges increasingly it is young people in the United States and around the world who are finding new ways of belonging collaboration and survival That reality forms the backbone of this book as Hogan documents and assesses young people s interventions in the American fight for democracy and its ideals Beginning with reflections on the inspiring example of Ella Baker and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in the 1960s Hogan profiles youth led organizations and their recent work Examples include Southerners on New Ground SONG in the NAFTA era Oakland s Ella Baker Center and its fight against the school to prison pipeline the Dreamers who are fighting for immigration reform the Movement for Black Lives that is demanding a reinvestment in youth of color and an end to police violence against people of color and the International Indigenous Youth Council water protectors at Standing Rock who fought to stop the Dakota Access Pipeline and protect sovereign control of Indigenous lands As Hogan reveals the legacy of Ella Baker and the civil rights movement has often been carried forward by young people at the margins of power and wealth in U S society This book foregrounds their voices and gathers their inventions not in a comprehensive survey but as an activist mix tape with lively fresh perspectives on the promise of twenty first century U S democracy

Troublemakers Carla Shalaby, 2017-03-07 A radical educator s paradigm shifting inquiry into the accepted normal demands of school as illuminated by moving portraits of four young problem children In this dazzling debut Carla Shalaby a former elementary school teacher explores the everyday lives of four young troublemakers challenging the ways we identify and understand so called problem children Time and again we make seemingly endless efforts to moderate punish and even medicate our children when we should instead be concerned with transforming the very nature of our institutions systems and structures large and small Through delicately crafted portraits of these memorable children Zora Lucas Sean and Marcus Troublemakers allows us to see school through the eyes of those who know firsthand what it means to be labeled a problem From Zora s proud individuality to Marcus s open willfulness from Sean s struggle with authority to Lucas s tenacious imagination comes profound insight for educators and parents alike into how schools engender exclude and then try to erase trouble right along with the young people accused of making it And although the harsh disciplining of adolescent behavior has been called out as part of a school to prison pipeline the children we meet in these pages demonstrate how a child s path to excessive punishment and exclusion in fact begins at a much younger age Shalaby s empathetic discerning and elegant prose gives us a deeply textured look at what noncompliance signals about the environments we require students to adapt to in our schools Both urgent and timely this paradigm shifting book challenges our typical expectations for young children and with principled affection reveals how these demands despite good intentions work to undermine the pursuit of a free and just society

and Special Education through Consilience, Self-Study, and Radical Love David I. Hernández-Saca, Holly Pearson, Catherine Kramarczuk Voulgarides, 2022-12-13 In Understanding the Boundary between Disability Studies and Special Education through Consilience Self Study and Radical Love the authors explore what it means to engage in boundary work at the intersection of traditional special education systems and critical disability studies in education The book consists of fifteen groundbreaking accounts that challenge dominant medicalized discourses about what it means to exist within and around special education systems that create space for new conceptions of what it means to teach lead learn and exist within a conciliatory space driven by radical love and disability justice principles The book pushes readers to consider how their own personal professional and programmatic future transformational actions can be driven by disruption and the desire for freedom from the hegemony of traditional special education and White and Ability supremacy The SoJo Journal Brad J. Porfilio, Azadeh F. Osanloo, 2019-10-01 The SoJo Journal Educational Foundations and Social Justice Education is an international peer reviewed journal of educational foundations The College of Education at San Jose State University hosts the journal It publishes essays that examine contemporary educational and social contexts and practices from critical perspectives The SoJo Journal Educational Foundations and Social Justice Education is interested in research studies as well as conceptual theoretical philosophical and policy analysis essays that challenge the existing state of affairs in society schools and in formal education Disrupting the School-to-Prison Pipeline Sofía Bahena, North Cooc, Rachel Currie-Rubin, Paul Kuttner, Monica Ng, 2012-12-01 A trenchant and wide ranging look at this alarming national trend Disrupting the School to Prison Pipeline is unsparing in its account of the problem while pointing in the direction of meaningful and much needed reforms The school to prison pipeline has received much attention in the education world over the past few years A fast growing and disturbing development it describes a range of circumstances whereby children are funneled out of public schools and into the juvenile and criminal justice systems Scholars educators parents students and organizers across the country have pointed to this shocking trend insisting that it be identified and understood and that it be addressed as an urgent matter by the larger community This new volume from the Harvard Educational Review features essays from scholars educators students and community activists who are working to disrupt reverse and redirect the pipeline Alongside these authors are contributions from the people most affected youth and adults who have been incarcerated or whose lives have been shaped by the school to prison pipeline Through stories essays and poems these individuals add to the book s comprehensive portrait of how our education and justice systems function and how they fail to serve the interests of many young people Caught in the Middle Darren W. Aitchison, 2022-06-14 I had been teaching for about eight years and I was upset Teaching just wasn t working for me I was pouring in tons of extra time and effort and not getting the results that I wanted to see and it was taking a toll on me Every year was more heartbreaking than the previous one I was wasting lots of time dealing with disruptive and problematic behavior I began to see patterns in the public school system For the privileged and the connected their education was excellent But for everyone else it was a different world I saw many of my students end up in the criminal justice system I was doing the same thing over and over and I could not take it any longer I knew there had to be a better way so I left teaching to find it And now several research projects hundreds of interviews and many hours of field testing later I have a way to give educators the help that I wish I would have had teaching in a classroom This is the story of that intervention both what to do and how we discovered it School, Not Jail Peter Williamson, Deborah

Appleman, 2021 Arguing that the school to prison pipeline is one of the most urgent educational issues of our time this volume seeks to 1 examine how and why increasing numbers of students disproportionately youth of color are being taken from our schools into our prisons and 2 consider what school based educators can do to disrupt this flow and dismantle the school to prison pipeline using examples drawn from both schools and prisons Incorporating perspectives from both ends of the pipeline the volume provides specific strategies on curriculum pedagogy and disciplinary practices that can help redirect our collective efforts from carceral practices to education that will be valuable for all educators in keeping students in school and out of prison From Education to Incarceration Anthony J. Nocella, Priya Parmar, David Stovall, 2014 From

Education to Incarceration Dismantling the School to Prison Pipeline is a ground breaking book that exposes the school system's direct relationship to the juvenile justice system The book reveals various tenets contributing to unnecessary expulsions leaving youth vulnerable to the streets and ultimately behind bars Understanding, Dismantling, and

Disrupting the Prison-to-school Pipeline Kenneth J. Fasching-Varner, Lori Latrice Martin, Roland W. Mitchell, Karen P.

Bennett-Haron, Arash Daneshzadeh, 2017 This volume provides a concentrated and powerful dialog about the nexus between schools prisons and the free market economy where youth are on fast tracks from schools to prisons Decision Points:

Eliminating the School to Prison Pipeline- Robert A. Murphy, 2016-06-01 Decision Points Eliminating the School to Prison Pipeline A practitioner's perspective explores the complexity of school discipline from the experiences of educators Utilizing student and teacher interviews experiences laws data and practice to weave a narrative that examines race perception structure human nature and policy The book provides the reader with practical tools and strategies that can be implemented at home or school to reduce student disruption Dismantling the School-to-prison Pipeline, 2006 Realistic Strategies

That Eradicate the School to Prison Pipeline MDonnell Tenner, 2017-04-24 Realistic Strategies that Eradicate the School to Prison Pipeline is a data driven and applicable ways to keep Black and Latino children from going from school directly to prison This is a NO holds barred litany of answers to the issue Promises and Possibilities Kelisa Wing, 2018-05-03 In many of our schools students arrive for an education but leave with a record As a result of the students who are being arrested as opposed to being sent to the principal's office the school to prison pipeline has become a serious issue across our nation Many students who receive a criminal record from school offenses have their future dreams jeopardized and the suspensions from school contribute to high dropout rates Kelisa Wing is a product of inner city schools and has experienced the belief gap

first hand As a public speaker writer and advocate for eliminating the school to prison pipeline it is her personal mission to raise awareness on this serious issue and the need to eliminate the pipeline Promises and Possibilities offers practical ways to deconstruct the pipeline from home to the classroom while offering anecdotes about equity from respected educators and State Teachers of the Year from across the country Promises and Possibilities challenges educators to choose restoration over criminalization so that we can dismantle the pipeline once and for all

Right to be Hostile Erica R. Meiners, 2007 In Right to be Hostile scholar and activist Erica Meiners offers concrete examples and new insights into the school to prison pipeline phenomenon showing how disciplinary regulations pedagogy pop culture and more not only implicitly advance but actually normalize an expectation of incarceration for urban youth Analyzed through a framework of an expanding incarceration nation Meiners demonstrates how educational practices that disproportionately target youth of color become linked directly to practices of racial profiling that are endemic in state structures As early as preschool such educational policies and practices disqualify increasing numbers of students of color as they are funneled through schools as under educated unemployable dangerous and in need of surveillance and containment By linking schools to prisons Meiners asks researchers activists and educators to consider not just how our schools physical structures resemble prisons metal detectors or school uniforms but the tentacles in policies practices and informal knowledge that support naturalize and extend relationships between incarceration and schools Understanding how and why prison expansion is possible necessitates connecting schools to prisons and the criminal justice system and redefining what counts as educational policy

School House Or Jailhouse Jacquene Ryan Polee, 2014 Transforming the School-to-Prison Pipeline Debra M Pane, Tonette S Rocco, 2014-02-05 Revolution not reform is required to release the power of teaching Virtually all teachers possess tremendous power which can be released given the proper exposure We can't get to that point by tinkering with a broken system We must change our intellectual structures definitions and assumptions then we can release teacher power Hilliard 1997 This book was written during a time of growing upheaval and disagreement about how America should educate its students particularly those who are poor diverse and failing school Dominant educational research newspapers and popular movies such as Waiting for Superman continually fuel public debates about whether our 21st century schools provide justice for all decrease the achievement gap and leave no child behind However even though one of teachers greatest concerns and why many leave the profession classroom discipline is rarely brought to the forefront of discussion As a result public discourse does not get into what actually happens during disciplinary moments that ultimately leads to the disproportional tracking of particular students into exclusionary school disciplinary consequences which funnels an underclass of students into the school to prison pipeline This book is a scholarly study presented here as a readable story and practical guide for walking teachers administrators and teacher education programs through the process of transforming traditional ways of thinking about classroom discipline and teaching in order to create student centered creative non punitive classrooms that authentically engage the most alienated and oppressed students in our schools and society Beyond Mis-education Donna Shannon, 2016-08-08 BEYOND MIS EDUCATION highlights the problem of students including the profoundly gifted being hurt by what the author calls Dis Education in American public schools Part 1 is Donn s story A voracious reader from the age of two he learned like a sponge Years ahead of traditional age appropriate curricula he was never skipped appropriately and quickly learned to hate school Donn was intellectually neglected by teachers effectively killing all of the advanced interests he brought with him on his very first day of public school and emotionally tormented by classmates that could not relate to him bullying him instead He would certainly have dropped out if not for intermittent homeschooling giving him breaks from the madness Abundant documentation chronicles this heart rending true story Without homeschool Donn would not have survived his education With homeschool he was able to start college classes at the age of 14 Part 2 contains research by experts with the right letters behind their names along with suggestions and encouragement for parents seeking to help children struggling in rigid traditional school settings The School-to-prison Pipeline Symposium ,2010

System Failure Patricia Burch, 2022 SYSTEM FAILURE provides a framework for understanding the ways in which education policy across organizational settings contributes to the school to prison pipeline as documented in the literature and as observed by authors in empirical studies of justice involved youth in regular public schools juvenile court schools probation settings and alternative schools Burch and contributors argue that education policy fails low income justice involved youth in three major ways maintaining silence around issues of structural racism and civil rights marginalizing youth voice and culture and language focusing on schools or the criminal justice system and overlooking intermediate settings including the role of for profit and not for profit education companies While the problem of the school to prison pipeline has been well documented the book adds critical detail and description of a policy process that tolerates the school to prison pipeline and stalls efforts to abolish it The book is intended for educators students policymakers and practitioners interested in a comprehensive introduction to the policy issues as well as advocates doing serious work on the issues
