First Person First Person:

The First Person Singular William Rose Benét, 1922 The Blackwell Companion to Substance Dualism Jonathan J. Loose, Angus J. L. Menuge, J. P. Moreland, 2018-03-13

THE BLACKWELL COMPANION TO SUBSTANCE DUALISM This is a terrific volume by a long way the best currently available anthology on dualism and a worthy addition to Blackwell's distinguished series of Companions. Tim Crane, Central European University. A major contribution to an ongoing transformation of analytic philosophy of mind. Howard Robinson, Central European University. This high quality volume offers a rich variety of perspectives on substance dualism and will be a valuable resource for students and researchers in philosophy of mind and philosophy of religion. John Cottingham, University of Reading. Thorough and fair. The quality of the essays is high. This will certainly be the book on substance dualism. Michael Tye, University of Texas at Austin. Substance dualism has for some time been dismissed as an archaic and defeated position in philosophy of mind but in recent years the topic has experienced a resurgence of scholarly interest and has been restored to contemporary prominence by a growing minority of philosophers prepared to interrogate the core principles upon which past objections and misunderstandings rest. As the first book of its kind to bring together a collection of contemporary writing from top proponents and critics in a pro contra format, the Blackwell Companion to Substance Dualism captures this ongoing dialogue and sets the stage for rigorous and lively discourse around dualist and physicalist accounts of human persons in philosophy. Chapters explore emergent Thomistic Cartesian and other forms of substance dualism broadly conceived in dialogue with leading varieties of physicalism including animalism, non-reductive physicalism and constitution theory. Loose, Menuge and Moreland pair essays from dualist advocates with astute criticism from physicalist opponents and vice versa, highlighting points of contrast for readers in thematic sections while showcasing today's leading minds engaged in direct debate. Taken together, essays provide nuanced paths of introduction for students and capture the imagination of professional philosophers looking to expand their understanding of the subject. Skillfully curated and in touch with contemporary science as well as analytic theology, the Blackwell Companion to Substance Dualism strikes a measured balance between advocacy and criticism and is a first-rate resource for researchers, scholars and students of philosophy, theology and neuroscience.

Expressing the Self Minyao Huang, Katarzyna Jaszczołt, 2018 This book addresses different linguistic and philosophical aspects of referring to the self in a wide range of languages from different language families including Amharic English French Japanese Korean Mandarin Newari Sino Tibetan Polish Tariana Arawak and Thai In the domain of speaking about oneself languages use a myriad of expressions that cut across grammatical and semantic categories as well as a wide variety of constructions Languages of Southeast and East Asia famously employ a great number of terms for first person reference to signal honorification The number and mixed properties of these terms make them debatable candidates for pronounhood with many grammar driven classifications opting to classify them with nouns Some languages make use of egophors or logophors and many exhibit an interaction between expressing the self and expressing evidentiality qua the epistemic status of information held from the ego perspective The volume's focus on expressing the self however is not directly motivated by an interest in the grammar or lexicon but instead stems from philosophical discussions on the special status of thoughts about oneself known as de se thoughts It is this interdisciplinary understanding of expressing the self that underlies this volume comprising philosophy of mind at one end of the spectrum and cross cultural pragmatics of self expression at the other This unprecedented juxtaposition results in a novel method of approaching de se and de se expressions in which research methods from linguistics and philosophy inform each other The importance of this interdisciplinary perspective on expressing the self cannot be overemphasized Crucially the volume also demonstrates that linguistic research on first person reference makes a valuable contribution to research on the self tout court by exploring the ways in which the self is expressed and thereby adding to the insights gained through philosophy psychology and cognitive science

First-person Fictions Mary R. Lefkowitz, 1991 This collection of essays deals with one central problem who is the I in the odes of the ancient Greek poet Pindar Since antiquity the complex and allusive language of the first person statements has provoked many different answers In First Person Fictions Lefkowitz describes the function and nature of Pindar's I statements and offers a controversial solution proposing that the voice of the victory odes is rather than a changing identity the voice of the poet himself Also refuting the traditional belief that the odes were sung by a chorus Lefkowitz shows that in most cases they were sung as solos in the tradition of the Homeric bards Extensively rewritten since their publication as articles these essays are sure to provide a controversial and stimulating approach to the study of Pindar
