Ex Machina Five:

Nietzsche's Philosophy of Life Affirmation Michael J. McNeal, 2024-12-23 This anthology broadly examines the interrelated roles of art science and experimentation in Nietzsche's philosophical project. It is divided into two parts: the first organized around the theme of experimentally reconceiving our world; the second investigating the aforementioned subjects in Nietzsche's free spirit or middle period works. Together the essays comprising the book underscore Nietzsche's concern that experimentation with values ultimately provide humankind with a new wherefore or purpose. Wide-ranging in its scope, this volume brings together a diverse group of scholars working in both the analytic and continental traditions to provide original insights into Nietzsche's thought. A unique contribution to the scholarship, it deepens understanding of the relationship between Nietzsche's critiques of art and science, the role this relationship plays in his futuristic thought, and the experimental life-affirming practices that his free spirit project may enable toward the transfiguration of humankind. The Philosophical Transactions and Collections, to the End of the Year 1700, Abridg'd and Dispos'd Under General Heads ... By John Lowthorp ...: Containing pt. 1, The anatomical and medical papers; pt. 2., The philological and miscellaneous papers, by H. Jones Royal Society (Great Britain), 1721

Ex Machina Book Five Brian K. Vaughan, 2015-05-26 In this last EX MACHINA volume Mayor Mitchell Hundred descends into the NYC sewers to learn why he was given the strange powers that helped him become the heroic Great Machine while a powerful new foe reveals a terrifying plan that's been in the works since the series began. Then in the very last EX MACHINA adventure will Mitchell Hundred's new archenemy, a dogged reporter with powers far beyond those of the Great Machine, finally bring down his administration. Will the tragedies that Mayor Hundred warned about from the beginning finally come to pass? Collects EX MACHINA 41-50 and EX MACHINA SPECIAL 4.

Transnational Feminist Rhetorics and Gendered Leadership in Global Politics Rebecca S. Richards, 2014-10-28 Transnational Feminist Rhetorics and Gendered Leadership in Global Politics examines the rhetoric surrounding women who hold or have held the highest office of a nation-state. Heads of state such as Golda Meir, Margaret Thatcher, Benazir Bhutto, Ellen Johnson Sirleaf, and Michelle Bachelet have navigated their ascent to executive government in vastly different ways while contending with gendered expectations of leadership especially since most of them are the first woman to occupy their country's highest governmental position. This book analyzes how these women rhetorically perform their positions of power discursively visually and physically in a traditionally male leadership role. Specifically, this project examines how certain rhetorical acts open up and close down the potential to confront the gendered expectations surrounding political leadership. When people analyze campaign for or critique a female prime minister or a woman president, they are not just talking about one woman but also referencing a collective neoliberal logic that interrupts and reaffirms the belief that the nation state is an eternal inevitable structure. Diverse political figures such as Angela Merkel, Julia Gillard, and Indira Gandhi are continually put in conversation with one another through popular media representations, academic scholarship, and political analyses. This book examines the effect of such comparisons and connections, ultimately arguing that many of these gestures reduce or over-simplify women's contributions to world politics. In order to show this effect, this book manifests the transnational connections found in autobiographies, organizations, political commentaries, biographical films, and other sources that focus on women who have been heads of state.
