Elections And Democracy In Greater China Studies On Contemporary China:

Elections and Democracy in Greater China Larry Diamond, Ramon H. Myers, 2001-05-10 The authoritarian Chinese regimes governing Taiwan Mainland China and Hong Kong allowed limited electoral competition during the last half century In Taiwan that process evolved over more than three decades before leading to the formation of an opposition party under martial law in late September 1986 and the blossoming of full democracy in March 2000 when that opposition party replaced the ruling party In Mainland China and Hong Kong limited electoral competition has only evolved over the last fifteen years or so This volume examines why and how limited electoral competition developed in Greater China The editors use a typology and different concepts to analyse how the political centre in these three Chinese societies historically interacted with society and how different regime change took place Their analysis attributes Taiwan's robust electoral competition under martial law to political breakthroughs in the political ideological economic and organizational marketplaces Without similar political breakthroughs in Mainland China and Hong Kong their limited electoral processes are not likely to lead to the election of one or more opposition parties in Mainland China and the direct election of a Hong Kong governor and parliament These two authoritarian regimes have adopted different institutions or rules to limit electoral competition Moreover different changes have been taking place in their political ideological economic and organizational marketplaces than occurred in Taiwan Therefore whether these two Chinese societies can mimic the Taiwan democratization path remains problematic Only the passage of time will reveal whether their limited electoral competitive processes can transform into full democracy

Democracy, Intermediation, and Voting on Four Continents Richard Gunther, Hans-Jürgen Puhle, José R. Montero, 2007 This book presents the results of systematic comparative analyses of electoral behavior and support for democracy in 13 countries on four continents It is based on national election surveys held in old and new democracies in Europe Germany Britain Spain Greece Italy Portugal Bulgaria North and South America the United States Chile and Uruguay and Asia Hong Kong between 1990 and 2004 It is methodologically innovative notwithstanding the fact that its core concern with political intermediation i.e. the flow of political information from parties and candidates to voters through the mass communications media membership in secondary associations and direct face to face contacts within interpersonal networks was first introduced to the study of electoral behavior by Paul Lazarsfeld and his collaborators in the 1940s In addition to reviving that long neglected analytical framework this book breaks new ground by systematically exploring the impact of socio political values on electoral behavior It also analyzes the role of political intermediation in forming basic attitudes towards democracy which are crucial for the consolidation of new democracies and in turn channeling those orientations into various forms of political behavior Some of the findings presented in this volume are dramatic and clearly reveal that these channels of information are among the most powerful factors influencing the development of political attitudes and partisan electoral behavior So too are socio political values in some countries particularly the United States This volume is the first book length product of the now 18 country Comparative National Elections Project      U.S.-China Relations in the Twenty-first Century Christopher Marsh, June Teufel Dreyer, 2003 The importance of every major development in the relationship between the two powers is discussed from the success of Chinese economic reform and the rise of civil society to the U S EP 3 reconnaissance plane collision and the Taiwan Strait issue      Politics of Modern China: Democratization Yongnian Zheng, Yiyi Lu, Lynn T. White, 2010 The Politics of Modern China is a comprehensive 4 volume resource for students and teachers of modern Chinese politics as well as other interested individuals and institutions internationally      Judicial Review in Greater China Shiling Xiao, 2025-06-13 This book examines the judicial review systems in the four areas of Greater China China Taiwan Hong Kong and Macau and uncovers judicial review activities of the apex courts of each region It provides a comparative assessment of judicial activism and deference The development of modern judicial review is one of the key elements of the twentieth century s legal heritage By enforcing the principles of constitutionalism the rule of law and human rights protection many courts have been vested with unprecedented powers and have played an essential role in supervising the exercise of government power through constitutional and administrative review This work investigates the most up to date aspects of judicial review in Greater China and reflects on the modern theory regarding the judicialization of politics in different political regimes democratic authoritarian and hybrid The volume collects all substantive judicial review decisions delivered in the past twenty years by the four apex courts the China s Supreme People s Court the Taiwan Constitutional Court the Court of Final Appeal of Hong Kong and the Court of Final Appeal of Macau This comprehensive dataset includes some 800 judicial review decisions presenting a comprehensive resource of fundamental baseline data for evaluating judicial review in Greater China The book will be an invaluable companion for scholars and researchers working in the areas of Comparative Public Law Comparative Constitutional Law Constitutional Politics and Asian Studies      Capitalists in Communist China Keming Yang, 2012-10-28 Since 1949 Chinese capitalists have experienced some dramatic shifts in their political and economic life Keming Yang examines what such changes tell us about China s current political situation and future political development making use of both historical and current interdisciplinary evidence      Reparative Justice in Authoritarian States Brian Wong Yue Shun, 2025-10-30 Wong examines the normative responsibilities of citizens in authoritarian states to address the injustices perpetrated by their governments He challenges prevailing assumptions in political philosophy arguing that certain citizens by virtue of their agency and authorisation of their states bear responsibilities to compensate oppose commemorate or apologise over injustices that take place in such states The book explores the relationship between authoritarian regimes and the citizens who enable or endure them offering a fresh perspective on questions of reparative justice moral agency and accountability in contexts where state actors fail to meet their obligations Drawing upon political philosophy history sociology and international relations it adopts a richly interdisciplinary approach for understanding citizen liability in authoritarian states Case studies encompassing historical examples such as the Soviet Union Indonesia under Suharto South Korea under Park Chung hee through to contemporary cases such as the Iranian Myanmar and Russian states bridge theory and lived experiences illuminating the complex dynamics of justice in non democratic contexts The advancement of a novel General Authorisation View offers original insights that extend beyond authoritarian regimes addressing broader implications of reparative justice for all regime types Posing critical questions about the evolving responsibilities of citizens in shaping just societies this is an indispensable resource for scholars and students of political philosophy international relations and empirical political science as well as those interested in authoritarianism reform in non democratic contexts and global justice Contemporary Chinese Society and Politics Andrew B. Kipnis, Luigi Tomba, Jonathan Unger, 2009 The first volume brings together the best work to have been published on Chinese society and politics in the Maoist period 1949-76 Volume II meanwhile collects the key research dealing with both the theoretical implications and the empirical complexities of the post Mao evolution at the highest level of the political leadership The distinctions between urban and rural are especially significant in the People's Republic not least because of China's system of residential registration which denies rural residents any right to live permanently in a city and the final two volumes are organized with these fundamental distinctions in mind Volume III gathers the best work on topics including urban spaces e.g. the creation and dismantlement of the socialist city the creation of virtual cities and the making of Olympics Beijing the newly prosperous constituencies including China's new rich and the development of a huge and increasingly self identifying middle class China's working class internal migration and urban social change Volume IV includes work brought together under themes such as rural politics family farming changes in rural society in a period of economic reform and China's ethnic minorities China's Green Consensus Virginie Arantes, 2022-09-09 Despite contrasting approaches democratic and authoritarian governments all underline the fact that environmental protection is crucial and inevitable and China's enthusiasm in stepping up its efforts to protect the environment has not gone unnoticed This book highlights how the consensual orchestration of sustainability in China's biggest city Shanghai affects non state actors ways of perceiving acting and organizing around environmental issues China's Green Consensus examines grassroots realities as they intersect with events of everyday life offering insights into areas that far transcend debates over coercive forms of environmentalism and exploring the soft and green facets of President Xi Jinping's authoritarian approach to governance The importance of environmental protection in people's lives serves as a lens to analyze and understand authoritarian adaptations to environmental global phenomena Arantes highlights how through mobilization and de politicization a green consensus leads to the displacement of state responsibilities and the cultivation of civil society in its own image In so doing she opens up new ways of thinking about the complexities of environmental governance consensus politics subject making and citizenship in authoritarian contexts This book will be of interest to scholars and students of Chinese society and politics environmental politics political ecology international relations and urbanization in Asia as well as all others interested in the rising appeal of authoritarianism around the globe      Village Elections in China Qingshan Tan, 2006 This book chronicles the evolution and progress of village elections in China and offers a roadmap as to what could eventually be the beginning of a more extensive liberalization and democratization process Initiatives to allow greater autonomy to common people led to eventually allowing village elections which allowed all villages to elect their mayor or village chief and local council every three years      Modern China Studies: International Bulletin ,1981      Modern China Studies ,1981 Bulletin of current post graduate research new research materials conferences and staff movements      Giannini Reporter ,2003      Journal of East Asian Studies ,2007      China Perspectives ,2009      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2001-06      Peace Research Abstracts Journal ,2004      Asian Security Order Muthiah Alagappa, 2003 More than a decade has passed since the end of the Cold War but Asia still faces serious security challenges These include the current security environment in the Korean peninsula across the Taiwan Strait and over Kashmir the danger of nuclear and missile proliferation and the concern with the rising power of China and with American dominance Indeed some experts see Asia as a dangerous and unstable place Alagappa disagrees maintaining that Asia is a far more stable predictable and prosperous region than it was in the postindependence period This volume also takes account of the changed security environment in Asia since September 11 2001 Unlike many areas studies approaches Alagappa s work makes a strong case for taking regional politics and security dynamics seriously from both theoretical and empirical approaches The first part of this volume develops an analytical framework for the study of order the salience of the different pathways to order is examined in the second part the third investigates the management of specific security issues and the final part discusses the nature of security order in Asia
