Developments in Applied Spectroscopy Volume 1 W. D. Ashby, 2013-04-17 On May 15 18 1961 the 12th Annual Symposium on Spectroscopy was held in Chicago Over the twelve year history of this meeting it has continually grown and now ranks as one of the major technical meetings in the field of spectroscopy The scope of the program itself represents a balance between research applications and control applications between applied and the more fundamental aspects of spectroscopy Papers are presented each year in the specialty areas of X ray ultraviolet visible infrared Raman EPR and NMR spectroscopy In many instances over the years excellent work has been reported at this symposium and no further publication was made These reports were then essentially lost for further reference It is the purpose of this publication to provide a source of reference for the papers presented at the 12th Annual Symposium This first attempt at publishing a proceedings does not include the entire program Several papers could not be given company clear ance for publication and several more were intended for verbal presentation only and were never written for publication I as Coordinator of the Symposium would like to express my gratitude to the Symposium Committee John Ferraro Elwin Davis Joseph Ziomek John Kapetan L S Gray Jr Russell J Hansen J A Sheinkop L V Azaroff and Carl Moore whose diligence and labor resulted in a truly fine symposium and subsequently made possible this publication

Physical Methods in Determinative Mineralogy J. Zussman, 1967 Introduction to X-Ray Spectrometric Analysis Eugene P. Bertin, 1978-03 X ray fluorescence spectrometry has been an established widely practiced method of instrumental chemical analysis for about 30 years However although many colleges and universities offer full semester courses in optical spectrometric methods of instrumental analysis and in x ray dif fraction very few offer full courses in x ray spectrometric analysis Those courses that are given are at the graduate level Consequently proficiency in this method must still be acquired by self instruction on the job training and experience workshops held by the x ray instrument manu facturers the one or two week summer courses offered by a few uni versities and certain university courses in analytical and clinical chemistry metallurgy mineralogy geology ceramics etc that devote a small portion of their time to applications of x ray spectrometry to those respective disciplines Moreover with all due respect to the books on x ray spectrometric analysis now in print in my opinion none is really suitable as a text or manual for beginners in the discipline In 1968 when I undertook the writing of the first edition of my previous book Principles and Practice of X Ray Spectrometric Analysis my objective was to provide a student text However when all the material was compiled I decided to provide a more comprehensive book which was also lacking at that time Although that book explains principles instrumentation and methods at the begin ner s level this material is distributed throughout a mass of detail and more advanced material
