New Technologies, New Risks? Andrew Zerzan, 2010 New Technologies New Risks Innovation and Countering the Financing of Terrorism is part of the World Bank Working Paper series These papers are published to communicate the results of the Bank s ongoing research and to stimulate public discussion New financial and communication technologies offer a great opportunity to improve the lives of people everywhere For instance millions of impoverished people now have access to the financial system through stored value cards or mobile phones However some are concerned that governments are not always aware of these innovations in their jurisdictions This has prompted fear that fast moving terrorist groups could expand funding undetected The fear has led some countries to take a restrictive stance on the technologies use either by outright prohibition or by placing unnecessary limitations that deter market development Authorities are therefore challenged to tackle the double sided nature of technological advancement promoting security and economic growth This paper explores how money flows via these mediums risks they pose and how governments have mitigated the risks World Bank Working Papers are available individually or on standing order This World Bank Working Paper series is also available by subscription to the World Bank e Library www.worldbank.org/newelibrary Book jacket
