Early Hellenistic Portraiture Image Style Context:

Early Hellenistic Portraiture Peter Schultz, Ralf von den Hoff, 2007-09-24 Examines the styles and contexts of portrait statues produced during the early Hellenistic age Ancient Greek Portrait Sculpture Sheila Dillon, 2006-04-24 This book offers a new approach to the history of Greek portraiture by focusing on portraits without names. Comprehensively illustrated, it brings together a wide range of evidence that has never before been studied as a group. Sheila Dillon considers the few original bronze and marble portrait statues preserved from the Classical and Hellenistic periods together with the large number of Greek portraits known only through Roman copies. In focusing on a series of images that have previously been ignored, Dillon investigates the range of strategies and modes utilized in these portraits to construct their subject's identity. Her methods undermine two basic tenets of Greek portraiture: first, that it was only in the late Hellenistic period, under Roman influence, that Greek portraits exhibited a wide range of styles including descriptive realism; and second, that in most cases one can easily tell a subject's public role from the visual traits used in this portrait. The sculptures studied here instead show that the proliferation of portrait styles takes place much earlier in the late Classical period and that the identity encoded in these portraits is much more complex and layered than has previously been realized. Despite the fact that these portraits lack the one feature most prized by scholars of ancient portraiture—a name—they are evidence of utmost importance for the history of Greek portraiture. Handbook of Greek Sculpture Olga Palagia, 2019-07-22 The Handbook of Greek Sculpture aims to provide a detailed examination of current research and directions in the field. Bringing together an international cast of contributors from Greece, Italy, France, Great Britain, Germany, and the United States, the volume incorporates new areas of research such as the sculptures of Messene and Macedonia; sculpture in Roman Greece; and the contribution of Greek sculptors in Rome, as well as important aspects of Greek sculpture like techniques and patronage. The written sources, literary and epigraphical, are explored in dedicated chapters, as are function and iconography and the reception of Greek sculpture in modern Europe. Inspired by recent exhibitions on Lysippos and Praxiteles, the book also revisits the style and the personal contributions of the great masters. Visions of the Future in Roman Frontier Kingdoms 100 BCE-100 CE Richard Teverson, 2024-09-03 This is the first book-length exploration of the ways art from the edges of the Roman Empire represented the future, examining visual representations of time and the role of artwork in Roman imperial systems. This book focuses on four kingdoms from across the empire: Cottius's Alpine kingdom in the north; King Juba II's Mauretania in the south west; Herodian Judea in the east; and Kommagene to the north east. Art from the imperial frontier is rarely considered through the lens of the aesthetics of time, and Roman provincial art and the monuments of allied rulers are typically interpreted as evidence of the interaction between Roman and local identities. In this interdisciplinary study, which explores statues, wall paintings, coins, monuments, and inscriptions, readers learn that these artworks served as something more than they were created to represent the futures that allied rulers and their people foresaw The pressure of Roman imperialism drove patrons and artists on the empire's borders to imbue their creations with increasingly sophisticated ideas about the future as they wrestled with consequential decisions made under periods of intense political pressure Comprehensively illustrated and providing an important new approach to Roman material culture at the edge of empire Visions of the Future in Roman Frontier Kingdoms 100 BCE-100 CE is suitable for students and scholars working on Rome and its frontiers as well as Roman material culture more broadly and those studying the aesthetics of time in art and art history

Creating a Hellenistic World Andrew Erskine, Lloyd Llewellyn-Jones, 2011 Alexander's conquest of the Persian empire had far-reaching impact in space and time Much of the territory that he seized would remain under the control of Macedonian kings until the arrival of the Romans But Macedonian power also brought with it Greeks and Greek culture In this book leading scholars in the field explore the creation of this Hellenistic world its cultural political and economic transformations and how far these were a consequence of Alexander's conquests New kingdoms were established new cities such as Alexandria and Antioch were founded art and literature discovered fresh patrons Egyptians and Iranians had to come to terms with Graeco-Macedonian rulers and settlers while Greeks and Macedonians learned the ways of more ancient cultures The essays presented here offer an exciting interdisciplinary approach to the study of this emerging Hellenistic world its newness but also its oldness both real and imagined

Hesperia, 2006 Roman Portraits in Context Jane Fejfer, 2008 The highest honour a Roman citizen could hope for was a portrait statue in the forum of his city While the emperor and high senatorial officials were routinely awarded statues strong competition existed among local benefactors to obtain this honour which proclaimed and perpetuated the memory of the patron and his family for generations There were many ways to earn a portrait statue but such local figures often had to wait until they had passed away before the public finally fulfilled their expectations It is argued in this book that our understanding and contemplation of a Roman portrait statue is greatly enriched when we consider its wider historical context its original setting the circumstances of its production and style and its base which in many cases bore a text that contributed to the rhetorical power of the image
